Mooney To Run; 3 More Enter Council Contest

Councilman Seeks Reelection With Westlake Mate

Mooney Changes Mind After Public Draft

Councilman Ed Mooney told THE RECORD he will be a candidate for reelection to the city council, April 8. He named Edmund Whitney, a KCBS writer producer, as his running mate. The switch back to the political main line came one month after Councilman Mooney had announced he would not be a candidate. He said he had changed his mind only after he had been virtually drafted by scores of local civic leaders.

Much Thought
"I have given this much consideration, and while it means a great personal sacrifice, I believe it is my civic duty to continue my work on the city council," Mooney explained.

An overwhelming choice with voters four years ago, Mooney has been in office one term. He resides at 263 Crocker, and is employed by the San Francisco stock exchange.

New to the political scene, but an old favorite among radio listeners is Mooney's partner elect. Whitney, better known as "Pete Worth," has been in radio as a master of ceremonies, singer, announcer and writer producer.

Whitney, who says he will use his given name during the election campaign, resides at 843 So. Mayfair. He is 40 years old and the father of two daughters: Nicola, 9, who attends the new Westlake school, and Gabrielle, 2.

Bertetta Silent
Councilman Fred Bertetta, the only other councilman up for reelection, said he had no comment to make today on Mooney's announcement. However, well informed sources report he will not seek public office again, due to pressing business matters.

To-date Mooney and Whitney are the only two-man team on the political front. All the other candidates have said they will run separately as independents.

H. H. Smith, former mayor of Daly City and political power here for over a decade, is reported to be definitely "not interested" this year. He has indicated he will back no single candidate.

This marks a definite shift on the local political scene. Heretofore, or at least for the past 10 years, it has been a contest between two factions, one of which was always represented by Smith.

Movie To Launch Red Cross Drive

Show Slated For DC Theatre

Opening gun in the 1952 Red Cross fund drive here will be a rally and free show at the Daly City theatre, February 20, it was announced today.

The show gets underway at 10 a.m., and all interested parties are invited to attend.

Daly City's quota this year, as last, is $2,950, while the Colma-Broadmoor quota is pegged at $2,125.

Charles Becker, Colma city judge, has been named over-all general chairman.

Mrs. Margaret Pauline Brown, assisted by Judge Thomas Bocci, is chairman of the Colma district. Joe Lewkowitz will handle all business solicitation.

Last year the San Mateo county Red Cross chapter missed its goal by approximately $15,000.

Young Veteran And Wheeler Enter Race

DeBernardi Says Time For A Change

Two more independent candidates this week reported they will file for election to the city council, April 8.

They are: Michael "Micky" DeBernardi, 26-year-old assistant manager of the Hilltop Market, 6315 Mission. George Wheeler, 55, 352 San Diego, retired painter and decorator.

This brings to four the number of independent candidates who have said they will enter the council race. Others include: Thomas Tromborg, 55, 174 Moltke, local plumber; Edward Dennis, 34, 156 Mateo avenue, president of the milk wagon drivers union, and former city councilman.

Councilman Ed Mooney and Edmund Whitney are running together for the two vacancies on the council.

Youngest
A veteran of World War II, DeBernardi resides at 22 Bepler St. with his four children. He is the youngest candidate ever to consider filing for the city council.

In a statement to THE RECORD today, DeBernardi said:

"I am entering my name for city council because I believe Daly City needs young, progressive and intelligent government."

"I have no big money behind me, or any special groups. Therefore, I feel I can give this city fair and impartial judgment on all issues."

Change Needed
"I believe it is about time someone tried to do something about the exasperating conditions of our city. Let's get someone on the city council with 'guts' who can not be pressured."

Wheeler, a pioneer member of the local Eagles, said he would make a public statement at a later date.

Words, Sobs And Crying Intermingle As McLeod Phones Mother From Tokyo

The telephone wires from here to Tokyo and from the Nipponese capital to here were filled with little conversation but much sobbing and crying when Mrs. George McLeod, of 20 Miriam street, talked with her son, Pvt. George McLeod, Jr., in Japan, Friday afternoon, February 1.

It was not tragedy or bad news which caused the flood of tear ducts—these were sobs and their watery accompaniment of pure joy and unrestrained happiness.

Just a simple little statement from Private McLeod to his mother, "Mom, I love you," started Mrs. McLeod crying, crying for joy of hearing her son's voice.

Private McLeod could not contain his own happiness at hearing his mom's voice—the wires and cables carried an intermingling of unintelligible but easily understandable sobs.

Brother, Sister Cry

But it was little Bobby, 5, whose wails were the loudest as he heard his big brother's voice from Tokyo. Bobby has been terribly lonesome without his soldier-brother. He misses the play and the hikes with his idol, George, Jr.

The army man also talked with his sister, Mrs. Pat Byrne, 234 Aspen street, South San Francisco. She, too, couldn't suppress her feelings when she heard her brother's voice and cried unashamedly.

FULL HOUSE SLATED FOR COUNCIL MEET

A "full house" is expected Monday evening, February 11, as the city council meets to complete a public hearing on commercial zoning for Westlake.

The controversial issue will be on the agenda of the regular meeting which gets underway at 8 p.m., city hall, 75 Wellington avenue. The public is invited to attend.

Fontana Jeff High Board Candidate

Markovich, Eason Still To Speak

Elio A. Fontana, 33, past president of the Daly City Lions club, this week indicated he will be a candidate for the Jefferson high school board of trustees, May 16.

He will seek one of two positions open on the board.

Incumbents, Mrs. Ann Eason and Peter Markovich have not announced whether they will seek reelection to the board.

In addition to being a leader in Lions club activities here, Fontana has been active in youth welfare work. He is a graduate of Jefferson high school, where he was student body president in 1937.

Fontana resides at 102 Adler street, Garden Village, and is in the monument business with his father in Colma.

PRECINCT WORKERS NEEDED BY CITY

Precinct workers for the coming elections are needed to man Daly City polling places.

Mayor Paul Green said about 50 workers are needed. Each polling place has one inspector, paid $15 a day; and one judge and two clerks, paid $12 each.

All those interested are asked to sign up with the city clerk, city hall, before Wednesday, February 13.

False Alarm
The irony of May's severe injury lies in the fact that his pain and suffering are all in vain—it was a false alarm that he and the driver of the fire truck were chasing.

Fireman May's head injury required ten stitches at the Junipero Serra hospital, while his foot and ankle necessitate his using crutches for some days to come.

The local fire truck's side panels were ruined and the body was badly twisted. It is now in the garage, awaiting an estimate of the cost of the repairs necessary. Fire Chief Kennedy told THE RECORD.

The collision took place at the intersection of Vista Grande and Mission street, where the Greyhound was still to be seen the morning following the accident. Its front end was badly damaged. See Page 2 for more crash pictures

Fire Truck-Bus Collision

His First Alarm A False One, Fireman May Suffers Serious Head Injury

A member of the Daly City fire department only five days and responding to his first fire alarm, Richard May, 27, 312 Winchester street, suffered a deep scalp laceration and a wrenched foot and sprained ankle when the fire truck in which he was racing to the place of the origin of the alarm, Box No. 42, Bellevue and Templeton avenues, collided with a Greyhound bus at 4:28 p.m., Tuesday, February 5.

Fireman Specht, 37, 64 Guadalupe avenue, was the driver of the Daly City fire truck and escaped uninjured. The Greyhound bus driver, Richard J. Williams, 29, of 841 Fourteenth avenue, Menlo Park, was merely shaken up as were the seven passengers in his vehicle.

Poor Attendance
Shown At Meeting
"I can't blame the city council for laughing at us. Who can take us seriously?"

That was the succinct summing up of the Monday Daly City Businessmen's Association meeting. It was made by Hugh Smith Jr. who had called the convocation to protest the city's recent exit from the Mission Trails association.

As no councilman was present there was no one to officially refute or "laugh" at Smith's summation.

Despite this dim view of the Businessmen's Association, Smith succeeded in convincing those present that the city had made a mistake in dropping out of the Mission Trails association.

Chamber of Commerce
"This group is actively working as a chamber of commerce for the Daly City area," Smith explained. "And it is bringing thousands of dollars into this district."

Ted Hopman, spokesman for the merchants, said his group will request the city council to put up the $250 annual fee to rejoin the Mission Trails group.

Bad Check Charges Lodged Against Two Peninsula Men

Local Markets And Tavern Were Victims

Two Peninsula men learned this week that Daly City is not a healthy spot for "paper hangers" when they were arrested on charges that they had bilked local merchants and a tavern keeper out of cash via worthless bank checks.

George A. Schauer was picked up in San Mateo by that city's police on a warrant issued by the local police department on six counts of passing bad checks, a felony in each individual instance. It is alleged that Schauer's modus operandi, as it were, was impressive, because his checks were (Continued on Page 2)

Saint Valentine's Day

Dearest Darling, My Valentine I Am So Happy You Are All Mine

By CAS GLOWACKI

The headline on this yarn is this writer's poetic bow to the occasion of Saint Valentine's Day.

Grandmother and dad and aunt and uncle—no matter how vehemently they deny it now—when they were children wrote on their Valentine cards, sent to whom-ever was their respective current favorite of the opposite sex, this couplet:

"Roses are red, violets are blue,
Sugar is sweet, and so are you."
That's an old perennial and still the favorite with small fry, small fry from 6 to 60, for who isn't very young when in love?

This day, coming fast on the heels of Christmas, was once accorded almost equal celebration with the Nativity and Easter. Today Saint Valentine's Day is not so ceremoniously hailed.

At Christmas time men overflow with "peace to men of good will" and send postcards and gifts with indiscriminate abandon. But Saint Valentine's Day is noted by a very special selection of the object of undivided affection.

Grandmothers will worry themselves sick debating about what to get their favorite grandsons.

Thoughtful middle-aged husbands will send their wives one of those elaborate works of frilled art in the Valentine mood which come boxed at 2 or 3 dollars per copy. Maybe these husbands are not as unselfishly thoughtful as appears at first blush—or occurs to the excited wife. Perhaps they are merely errant spouses who just last week preferred a stud game

"No Pay" Deal On 7 Homes

Home Owners Will Not Pay Until Stoneson Makes Good On Flood Damage

(Editor's Note: See "Letters to Editor" for Broadmoor resident's explanation of the "rebellion.")

A first class legal hassle was shaping up in Broadmoor today as six residents refused to make payments on their homes until the Stoneson Developers make good recent flood damage.

In an unprecedented mass rebellion, the wet and angry home owners have placed all future payments in escrow.

"We can't get anything done by talking, now we are resorting to action," a resident told THE RECORD today.

As this is a relatively new method of "attack," lawyers are divided on what success the home owners will have. To Jenkins, representing the Broadmoor group, believes he has a real case.

"I have turned down cases somewhat similar to this before," the attorney said. "But these people are justified, and I believe we will win."

While damage varies, the six homes between 600 and 623 Larchmont drive were under three to four inches of water three consecutive times from December 1 to January 26. Thousands of dollars worth of furniture was ruined by the torrent of mud and water that cascaded down the hill behind the homes.

Collapse Near
At least three involved assert the flood has undermined their homes to the point where the houses may collapse.

Stoneson is the principal target for the distressed home owner's wrath. As developer of Broadmoor, they blame him for failing to put in adequate storm sewers to carry off the excess water.

What is worse, they assert the corporation has done nothing to remedy the trouble.

Bill House, project manager for Stoneson, has another story. He puts the blame on the San Mateo county engineering department.

"This never would have happened if the storm sewers had been large enough," House said. "And as the county calls the shots on the size of those pipes, they are at fault."

He told THE RECORD that the "county has practically admitted their responsibility" for the damage.

News To Me
This came as news to M. A. Grant, county engineer.

"It is far from being our responsibility," Grant replied. "The subdivision designed the size of the pipe for the project, and we assume he put in the right size."

Grant said the county has "done everything it can to help" because when a man's house is going to roll down a hill "it is up to everyone to give aid."

The engineering department has now diverted the flood water, and when the weather changes, plans to put in a larger drainage pipe which "should take care of the problem," Grant said.

Helping
House noted Stoneson, too, was helping the residents by cleaning up their yards and homes. He said Stoneson had recently poured a $7,000 concrete wall behind the homes to hold the hill from sliding.

"Stoneson has been in business too long not to deny responsibility, but we are doing everything possible," (Continued on Page 2)

Westlake Water
Reservoir Measure
Moved Up To June

$500,000 Project To Go On Ballot

Preliminary plans for the proposed Westlake water reservoir were presented to the city council Monday night for their approval, THE RECORD learned today.

However, earlier plans for putting the project on the April 8 ballot have proven premature. A city official said today the council has slated the measure for the June 3 primary.

At that time all residents of Daly City will be asked to approve a bond issue, tentatively set at $500,000 for construction of a reservoir on Skyline, and two new wells near Alameda extension and Lake Merced drive.

Officials say a special water district will not be set up. Everyone is to benefit from the new reservoir, and, consequently, the whole city must share the burden.

Registration offices are located throughout Daly City, and at the city clerk's office, city hall, 75 Wellington avenue.

Westlake residents may register at the Town & Country Food Center Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons and all day Saturday.

Bertetta Urges Drainage District

A possible answer to the drainage problem along the Colma Creek in Broadmoor was forthcoming this week from Councilman Fred Bertetta.

Councilman Bertetta called on the board of supervisors Tuesday to form a drainage district to solve the annual flooding along the Colma Creek. The district would be composed of Daly City, Colma, Broadmoor, the Crocker estate and South San Francisco.

The creek, Bertetta claims, should be called a river as the large amount of water has created flood conditions.

He proposed the district be formed to finance raising the creek banks five feet, removing obstructions and cement the creek banks.

Businessmen Ask City To Rejoin Mission Trails

Mission Trails.)

Fee Too High

Mayor Paul Green said the city had dropped out of the group for two principal reasons: One, the fee is too high. He said San Mateo, with a larger population, pays only $100 a year into the association.

Smith said the mayor was correct, but that San Mateo did not derive as much benefit from the association as Daly City. He said however, that San Mateo will soon up its annual donation.

The mayor's second reason for rejecting the association was his belief that "travel promotion should be financed directly by those businesses which are most apt to benefit from tourist activity."

The businessmen were of a different opinion. They said just about everyone benefits and, consequently, everyone should pay. They suggested the city should get the money from a small part of the business license fees they pay each year.

More Business

Other business before the Monday meeting included:

1. Going on record against zoning Parcel "H" in Westlake as commercial. This came after Albert Altman, leader in the movement to block the zoning, explained the position of Westlake residents.

Altman invited the businessmen to attend the Monday night meeting of the city council. "We expect to have at least 100 people up here, and we are sure you will be interested in attending," Smith said it probably would mean the "kiss of death" if the merchants sided with Altman's group.

2. A nominating committee will be appointed to elect new officers to the organization...the first such election in three years.

Bad Checks Bring Arrest For Two

Arrested

Morris A. Afisoff, 29, of 47 Felipe, South San Francisco, was arrested by that municipality's police on warrants also issued here. The arrest was made at his home on Friday, February 1, and he was immediately turned over to Daly City officers who took him to the Redwood City county jail where he remains in lieu of $1,000 bail which he could not raise.

Charges on two counts were preferred against Afisoff by the managers of Kings and Town and Country Markets, this city.

Both Schauer and Afisoff were given a preliminary hearing before Police Judge Wm. Sweeney Wednesday. Schauer is free on $1,000 bail. They will each be arraigned in the local police court and will make their pleas Friday morning, February 8, at 10 o'clock.

Theft Of March Of Dimes Donations

Somebody—probably the meanest person known—is nursing a bruised, lacerated, troubled conscience, if such they have, following the heartless theft of about $10 which had been donated and dropped into one of those miniature iron lung containers which this year have typified the March of Dimes drive.

Anybody so lacking in decency just MUST be the world's meanest person.

We are speaking of the man or woman who stole the March of Dimes container and its silver coins, estimated at about $10, from the cigar counter of the Fred & Vince's liquor store and tavern, 6278 Mission street, sometime after 7:30 o'clock, Tuesday evening, February 5.

with "the boys in the back room" to going with the wife to the Van Snort's bridge party. Or, again, mayhap they are penitent husbands who forgot that 15th wedding anniversary two weeks ago.

Teen-agers will heave deep and dramatic sighs of the tragically love-sick adolescents.

Doting dads will shower spoiled daughters with gifts marked by "You are my Valentine" to their choice offspring.

In Daly City Saint Valentine's Day will be signaled by PTA buffet lunches; by whist parties for all-comers; by dinner dances; and by just plain dances.

And let's not forget the newlyweds. They'll repeat their eternal vows of their exclusive love for each other with Valentines portraying Cupid's arrows hitting the dead center of two interwoven throbbing hearts.

Just when and how did all this get started? Why this plethora of the expression of exclusive, one-person love?

The Romans Had Their Valentine

Thou art my only and I am thine

Well, no one knows precisely how the custom got started of celebrating February 14. It is pretty much hidden in the obscurity of antiquity. Saint Valentine's special significance seems best to be typified by the cherubic little fellow—yelped Dan Cupid since time immemorial.

Some say that Emperor Claudius on February 14, 271 A.D., issued a decree abolishing marriage, at least for likely conscripts into the Roman army. He decided that marriage was bad for such men because they did not like soldiering away from their wives. They rebelled at patrolling the fringes of the Roman "Iron Curtain" in Britain or Gaul or Scythia or Carthage.

A good Christian priest, Valentine, heard the complaints of thus thwarted lovers and decided to do something about this threat to what is by cynics sometimes jokingly referred to as "conjugal bliss." So, he proceeded to marry Roman couples secretly.

But the emperor would have none of this surreptitious matrimony—probably because he was unhappily wedded to a termagant. Hence, forthwith he ordered Valentine's arrest and incarceration in the Roman hoosegow.

There Valentine languished in grief for countless Roman lovers who wanted to pledge their troth into eternity. When he died in prison he was promptly declared a saint by the popular consent of Roman lovers. So says the source of our information. And thus the "Saint" in Valentine's Day has come down to us today, that is, in its stricter and purer and less commercialized adherence to its origin. It is, therefore, a day especially set aside for love and lovers.

Mother Hears Army Son On Phone notified of the exact time of the broadcast and THE RECORD will inform its readers to that effect.

McLeod Local Hi Grad

Young George McLeod was graduated from the Jefferson Union high school in February, 1948. He immediately went to work for the Anglo-California bank at 1 Sansome street, San Francisco, as an IBM operator. He is now operating an IBM machine at headquarters in Tokyo.

He has been in the Army since April 19, last year, and in the Japanese city since September, 1951. He's 21 years of age.

Snowing In Tokyo

At the time of the telephone conversation, 3:30 p.m. our time and 8:30 a.m., Saturday, February 2, Tokyo time, Private McLeod said it was then snowing there. The conversation lasted five minutes. The Army man had been alerted for the broadcast some days prior to the memorable event, as had been his mother here.

He said he liked the Army and Tokyo but he was very homesick and would much rather be home—in Daly City.

police, said that he particularly noted the time was 7:30 p.m. when a customer dropped some coins into the iron lung container.

When a later customer wanted to contribute his change for the relief of infantile paralysis victims, at about 11:30 p.m., the container was no longer there.

We accept that explanation only tentatively. You may do as you like.

The Middle Ages Had It Too

Valentine's Was A Day To Woo An English writer of the Middle Ages, Bourne, has this to say: "It is a ceremony never omitted to draw lots which they (young people) term valentines on the evening before, St. Valentine's Day. The names of a select number of one sex are, with an equal number of the other, put into some vessel and after that every one draws a name which, for the present, is called his Valentine."

As time went on Valentine's Day came to mean an exchange of loving sentimentalities. Later still, rhymes were written on perfumed paper and illustrated by home-made drawings of hearts, arrows, doves and other emblems of love. This practice has in our own day given rise to an extensive commercial output of pictures and verse on Valentine post cards.

In 1797 an entire English book was devoted to Valentine's Day verses.

Which reminds this writer of a friend who at first aspired to a career as the proverbially ubiquitous demon reporter. City editors, however, were not too favorably impressed with his incurable addiction to double negatives, split infinitives, misspelled words, atrocious punctuation, and sophomore amateurism. Hence, they became reluctant to continue his name on their emaciated payrolls.

He then tried poetry. But a bulky collection of rejection slips from magazine editors and book publishers finally convinced our friend that he was slightly less than a serious threat to the poetic prestige of Edna St. Vincent Millay.

At long last he decided that his forte lay in post card versification. Thus he became a rhymester of lambic pentameters for the edification and sentimental delight of chronic senders of post cards for Christmas, Easter, Mother's and Father's days and—Saint Valentine's Day.

For Today's Valentine's Day

Love-Smitten Youth Has A Way When this writer was young it was the fashion to keep the sender's name of a Valentine card a deep secret. However, somewhere on the card where it would easily catch the eye of the recipient, were usually the words "From guess who" in a long hand unmistakably identifying the sender.

Today's young are slightly more forthright and more given to openly declaring their honorable though sometimes too fickle and transient intentions.

And why not, pray?

Did not the greatest versifier of them all have Ophelia in Hamlet sing

"Good morrow! 'tis St. Valentine's Day
All in the morning betime,
And I a maid at your window,
To be your Valentine!"

Becker Rally Slated Friday

Over 200 civic, business and professional leaders on the north peninsula will gather on the evening of February 15 to coordinate campaign plans for the election in June of Colma City Judge Charles Becker as judge of the new Municipal Court for the northern districts of San Mateo county.

Arnold Abrams, temporary campaign chairman, said that invitations have been sent to about 225, and thus far his office has received assurances from about 150 that they will be on hand for the rally.

The meeting will be held at the Westlake Clubhouse at 8 o'clock.

A chairman from each section of the judicial district will be named by Judge Becker and the temporary manager of the campaign, Abrams. Plans will be formulated for staging and "appeal direct to the people, to elect an experienced, fair and competent man to this all-important judgeship."

Refreshments will be served.

ble," House concluded.

As for the Federal Housing Administration, they appear satisfied that both Stoneson and the county have done enough for the distressed residents.

Richard W. Briggs, district director for the FHA, told THE RECORD:

"We have been looking into this for some time, and we believe as much as possible is being done for these home owners."

No Comment

Briggs said he had no comment on what action the FHA, or the bank would take if the residents continue to refuse to make their payments.

One discouraged Broadmoor home owner summed up the attitude of Stoneson, the FHA, and the county today with: "everyone refuses to take any responsibility."

Allen L. Cuykendall, 624 Larchmont drive, continues: "No person or organization will help. I bought my home on a G.I. loan, as an FHA approved home, and my wife and I have invested our life savings in the property."

No Excuse

Attorney Jenkins seems to believe these property owners may have payment coming for damages to their homes. He asserts Stoneson, in order to relieve a similar condition elsewhere in Broadmoor, channeled excess water into the one drain behind their homes.

"There was no excuse for that, and I believe Stoneson is legally bound to pay these people for damage done," Jenkins said.

Refusal

A similar course of action proved successful for Walter Thomas, 868 Beechwood, last year. Jenkins says Thomas refused to make payments on his home from January, 1950, to October, 1950, as the foundations under his house had washed away. Finally, the Stoneson company took action to remedy the situation, Jenkins said.

The only other case of where residents have rebelled in this manner, as far as Jenkins knows, was under similar circumstances in a Los Angeles housing tract.

In addition to Cuykendall, the residents involved in the fight include: Earl G. Miller, J. L. Bethel, Thomas McNally, Charles Wilson and Arthur Nelson.

roduced the featured speakers.

Alan Croft Blanchard represented the California Taxpayers Alliance, which is a group activated to push the referendum opposing assembly bill No. 3383. Assemblyman Robert I. McCarthy from San Francisco's twenty-fifth district spoke in favor of the measure granting property tax exemption to private schools below the collegiate level which operate without profit.

Statements of the debaters seemed to bring out these facts: that, though previous tax exemption proposals have been defeated in the legislature and at regular elections, California is the last state to pass a similar bill; that houses of worship, hospitals and other social welfare institutions are already accorded tax exemption; and that 183,000 children are now being privately educated in California at no cost to the taxpayers for buildings and tuition.

Doggy Drive Opens In Daly City Area

Robert Silicani, new pound-master, today said the city has opened a drive to curb the wanderings and extra curricular social activities of local dogs.

He warns dog owners to keep their dogs within the limits of their yards, or on a leash.

All roving dogs will be impounded, and owners charged 75 cents a day for their board.

STRONG BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION NEEDED

Business in Daly City, and throughout the nation, isn't everything it should be; but local business men are not going out of their way to help matters.

This was dramatically illustrated at the Monday night meeting of the Daly City Business Men's Association. Some 425 invitations were mailed out. Total attendance was just over 10.

There is such a thing as self murder, and local merchants are doing a nice job of killing themselves.

The pat answer for not attending these meetings is "politics." To which we reply "so what?"

Sure, there is bound to be a certain amount of chest pounding and soap box oratory at such a meeting, but this is a healthy sign. It shows the business men are still alive, something we were a bit doubtful about after Monday night's meeting.

Fortunately, those who did attend the meeting realized the necessity of such an association. They have agreed to form a nominating committee to elect new officers.

We wish them luck and assure them, and all local business men, that THE RECORD will support their efforts 100 per cent.

DALY CITY NEEDS NEW POLICE STATION

Now that the city is considering a $60,000 fire house for Westlake, we suggest they ante up a few thousand more and construct an adjacent police station.

Present quarters for Daly City's 20 policemen are located in a 300 square foot office in the back of city hall. The space allotted for the force would make a luxurious prison cell, but leaves much to be desired when it comes to operating an efficient police department.

The station was constructed in 1939 for a four man force. Since then nothing has been done to increase the size of the quarters, despite the continued growth of the department.

It has reached the point where even the filing cabinets are tripping over each other. When two or more policemen are in the station it resembles nothing so much as a keystone cop movie.

To the everlasting credit of Chief Roland Petrocchi, some order has evolved from the chaotic conditions. His ability to create space would do credit to a family of 12 living in a one bedroom home.

However, there is a limit...and that limit has been reached. We defy anyone, even a politician and his platform, to devise a method of crowding another bit of equipment into the quarters.

There appears to be two solutions; one bad, the other good. The worst has been devised by city officials who for the past two years have been promising to sink $7,000 to $15,000 in the basement of city hall. Here, they say, there is room for the department. It is true this would add about 50 feet to their quarters, but for the amount of money spent it is hardly worth the effort.

It is our contention this same amount, plus a little more, could be spent on the new fire house in Westlake for a police station. Put both in the same building. This has met with the general approval of both police and firemen, and it certainly is worth considering.

Some might object to the Westlake location. However, with present radio equipment, it makes little difference where a station is located.

We hope the city council considers this possibility. It is sure to eliminate another bond election in a few years for a police station, costing well over the amount it would take to add to the new firehouse.

WESTLAKE WATER RESERVOIR REQUIRES SELLING

It is no secret around city hall that it is going to take a good deal of talking to pass a $500,000 bond issue for construction of a water reservoir in Westlake.

Residents, at least on the east side of Junipero Serra boulevard, fail to see why they should pay for a water system for Westlake. They are screaming for a special district. Let those in Westlake foot their own bill, they say.

This type of reasoning will defeat any bond issue, at least as long as the older section of Daly City hold the voting hand.

We believe, when all the facts are out, public opinion will change. It is true the water reservoir is to be built in Westlake, but it is to benefit all of Daly City, not just one section. This one fact, with its many facets, must be put over. Whether or not the present city politicians are up to it, remains to be seen.

However, THE RECORD is convinced such a reservoir is necessary. Facts and figures add up to nothing else. We are faced with a water shortage which will grow acute as the city continues to grow. Either we sink $500,000 or more into an improved water system or we will be collectively sunk when it comes to water.

Regardless of where that reservoir goes, it is as necessary as tomorrow's pay check. And, we are convinced, were it located in any other section but Westlake, there would be no question of the issue passing.

Which all boils down to the fundamental difficulty in present thinking. Westlake residents consider themselves in a separate city, as do those in the older section of Daly City.

We think the big job of any city official is to put over the idea that Daly City and Westlake are one and the same. Until this fundamental principle is understood, there will continue to be the antagonism between the two sections, and the resulting difficulties.

FALSE ALARMS ARE A GRUESOME JOKE

People who turn in false fire alarms must have a gruesome sense of humor.

They probably regard themselves as innocent pranksters. However, their pranks have sometimes resulted in serious injury and even death to those who guard our homes from one of man's most cruel enemies, fire.

This week, last Tuesday evening, to be exact, another proof was added that false fire alarms can end in tragedy. Fireman Richard May, only five days before inducted into the Daly City fire department, suffered severe scalp lacerations which required several stitches when he answered his first alarm—a false one.

Fire Chief Kennedy has repeatedly issued warnings against the perverted sense of humor which some people exercise when they turn in a false fire alarm.

Now, through the columns of THE RECORD, Chief Kennedy urges every citizen of Daly City to report anyone found tampering with fire boxes when he has no fire to report.

Chief Kennedy would like to make an example of one or two such false fire alarmists—as should every resident of this city who has its welfare at heart.

WHAT ABOUT THE SECOND ROUTE?

We do not suppose it is a dire plot, but why is the state highway department overlooking El Camino Real and, for that matter, Daly City?

This is obvious to anyone who swinks out of San Francisco via the Alameda-Bayshore intersection. At this crucial junction the department has put up a large, noble sign pointing to the short way to San Jose and Los Angeles. No mention is made of the second route, down 101 through Daly City. (Oh, there is a sign there, but it is so dwarfed by the L. A. job that for all purposes it is nonexistent.)

We are certain many a business man in Daly City would welcome a little of that motor traffic, especially during the summer time.

THE RECORD strongly recommends the state give Daly City a boost along with Los Angeles. We want a similar sign at the Bayshore-Alameda junction pointing out El Camino Real.

And while the state is on the subject of signs, when are they going to get around to changing the population figure on the plaques informing strangers they are within the hallowed grounds of Daly City?

Maybe Mr. George Pingry, the wonder man of Westlake, and official in the state highway department, can help us out on these matters...in an unofficial capacity, of course.

THE CURRENT SCENE

By Cas Glowacki

The meaningless name calling, ambiguous promises and recurrent feeble attempts at "holding the price and wage line"—without specific action to stop the ever mounting spiral of inflation—after a while persuades one to believe that we are acting like the proverbial ostrich with its head stuck in the sand so that it will not see the danger which threatens it.

Every politician, from congressman to the lowliest ward healer, spouts sanctimonious words of warning and promise, but, in the next breath, advocates more easy money, higher wages and prices for those whose support he must have to maintain himself in his position.

But nobody actually DOES anything constructive and efficacious.

When one tries to track down the culprits who endanger the health of our economy, one succeeds only in tracing neither the head nor tail in this vicious circle.

After a while one raises his voice to the heavens and wails: "What do they mean—we WILL have inflation if we don't look out! We have it NOW. It is here. It has been creeping up on us as we have slept the sleep of inattention and unguarded naivete. We have lulled ourselves into a false feeling of security only because inflation has various degrees of seriousness. It has not yet reached the point where the crackup is inevitable."

What makes for inflation, anyway? Isn't it cheap, inflated monetary values—cheap dollars, to be exact in our case? And aren't cheap dollars the result of high prices for living commodities resulting, in turn, from cheap high wages?

Or is the reverse true—cheap high wages to labor being necessary because of high prices?

See what I mean? It IS a vicious circle, with neither beginning nor end.

John Doe, carpenter, belongs to a union which is granted a 12% cent hourly raise. What with the few hundred dollars he and Mary, his wife, saved before, with this added income they feel they can now seriously think of buying a house.

They shop around and come up with, "Why it's an outrage! That kind of house was selling for $10,000 last year. Look at it now—it's priced at $12,500. Capital is in a conspiracy against us poor people."

Somewhere calls John's and Mary's attention to the fact that John was not the only one who was granted a wage increase; lumbermen in the woods; mill hands who converted logs into finished boards; plumbers, electricians, tile setters, painters, paper hangers—every type of craftsman and laborer "got his."

And the men who dug raw metals out of the bowels of the earth.

And capital demands a greater profit from a greater outlay. It argues that, were it not for this capital, there'd be no industry in the first place.

Thus, wherever you turn you are met with what appears to be an irrefutable argument. But there IS something wrong, somewhere. There MUST be, else why these high prices—constantly mounting to, with no end in sight.

Labor accuses capital of using higher wages as a screen to hide unwarranted profits, record dividends. Labor says capital exploits the working man—the real author of all wealth.

Capital answers in kind, accusing labor of using highwage methods to intimidate—with strikes—capital into agreeing to higher wages against its maturer and better judgment.

But what does all THAT amount to? That is merely name-calling. It avoids nobody anything and does not stop the spiral of inflation.

The merry scramble to "get mine" continues unabated. In spite of the Office of Price Stabilization—which does not stabilize. In spite of Economic Stabilizer Putnam. In spite of the President's and Congress' pious assurances that they "will hold the line."

It is brazen of our government to claim it is doing everything it can to stop inflation when it is the highest bidder in the labor market and the guardian of higher prices for everything. For all this is true—else you'd be reading of many lobbyists losing their lucrative jobs in Washington. They either "get theirs" for their particular clients, be they industry, commerce or labor—or they go back to work.

Thus, every time labor asks for and gets an increase in wages, industry takes this as a signal to ask for and get the right to charge higher prices. Oh, yes, there's a brief furor raised, but in a couple of days that subsides. And everybody gets more money which buys less.

And we Americans, we sharp and shrewd and smart businessmen—we say to that, "Naturally. If you don't look out for your own good, nobody else will."

What IS this so-called good? Is it real, is it LASTING? Or is it, indeed, only a chimera which, when it fades away—as surely it must—we will be looking into empty space, open-mouthed, incredulous, confused and in the grip of fear—fear of the future, fear of utter ruin.

Can we escape this dilemma? Yes, definitely.

But only if we become less selfish, more Christian in our regard for the other fellow's interests. There must be a meeting of minds for the solution of the profit motives, with an eye for the good of ALL classes. Avarice of labor or capital will NOT solve our inflation problem.

We must indeed and in fact learn to "Live and LET live."

County Tax Bill Hits New High

Association Says Highest In Years

Total property tax bill for this year—the levy by all local governments—is higher this year in San Mateo county and every other county in California, California Taxpayers' association said today.

The property tax levy in the county for 1951-52 totals $20,159,148, with $4,999,469 the levy for the county itself, $3,897,717 for the cities in the county, $9,597,081 for the school districts, and $1,664,881 for special districts.

Total levy in the county for 1950-51 was $17,598,303, with $4,517,890 for county purposes, $3,442,233 for cities, $8,283,713 for school districts, and $1,354,467 for special districts.

State Bill Statewide, the property tax bill hit a new peak, $853,592,808 for 1951-52, compared with $798,241,231 for 1950-51.

Blum To Head Bocci Campaign

The committee for the election of Thomas L. Bocci, Jr., for Municipal Judge has announced that Frank Blum, City Attorney for Daly City, will be in charge of Judge Bocci's campaign.

Blum will be assisted by Richard Liberty, formerly with the Bank of America, and Edward Allen, businessman, all of whom are residents of Daly City.

The committee also reveals that there will be released shortly a general list of those who will join in supporting the candidacy of Judge Bocci for election to the Municipal Court.

Judge Bocci Lowers Boom On Hotrods

Hot rod drivers are getting a cold reception in the First Township justice court these days.

Last Thursday, Judge Thomas Bocci said his court will "co-operate with officers toward the end that hot rod drivers will be discouraged from driving defective equipment."

Illustrating his point, the judge placed a 17-year-old San Francisco hotrod driver who pleaded guilty to driving with defective equipment on six month's probation and ordered him to write 2,000 times per week during his probation: "I will not drive defective cars on the highways."

A similar "school teacher" fine was levied by Judge Bocci against a 19-year-old Los Altos driver charged with reckless driving, excessive speed, and cutting in and out. The boy, who pleaded guilty, was ordered to pay a $50 fine, was placed on probation for six months, and ordered to write: "I will obey all traffic laws," 10,000 times.

Local Mother Goes To Heroic Son's Burial In St. Louis

Mrs. Clara C. Scally, 501 Vista Grande avenue, left Daly City today, Thursday, for St. Louis, Mo., where on Monday, February 14, the remains of her son, Henry, who died a tragic death while a prisoner in a Japanese prison camp on Palawan, Philippine Islands, will be buried in Jefferson Barracks national cemetery.

The first notification that the body of her son would be brought back to his native land for burial came to Mrs. Scally in a recent telegram from the government in which she was told that "Because of the manner in which he (Henry) met his death, it was not possible to identify his remains individually. Burial of his remains and remains of his comrades will be made in Jefferson Barracks national cemetery, St. Louis, Missouri."

The telegram was apparently referring to the fact that Henry Scally and about 150 other American prisoners of war at Palawan were working in a mine at the time they met their death, when, as it has been charged, gasoline was poured into the shaft and this ignited by their Jap captors. When they were brought out of the mine following the recapture of the recapture of the Philippines by our troops, the bodies of the prisoners were blackened, charred remnants of flesh, far too burned to permit of individual identification.

Sergeant Scally was a member of the 200th Coast Artillery at the time he was captured at the battle of Corregidor. He was cited several times for outstanding acts of bravery.

Save's Buddy's Life
When he was still a private he escaped Bataan to make his way to Corregidor, where he swam three miles while helping a wounded buddy. Later, at Clark field, Batangas, Philippines, he covered himself with glory when he saved the life of his wounded commanding officer, Captain Beyers.

Capt. Beyers later wrote to his wife about Henry Scally as follows: "He is the boy that ran about 80 yards through machine gun fire to get a truck to take me to the first aid station against a direct order to wait until the raid was over. They were afraid that I wouldn't last that long, so got the job done. I'm writing him up to the General for citation for bravery, etc. I'd like his mother to know—especially since he is probably a prisoner of war now."

After they reached the first aid station, 43 bullet holes were counted in the truck.

All these facts were later brought out in an official citation received by Scally in an award made by Major Gen. Bond.

Sergeant Scally was awarded, also, the Purple Heart posthumously. He was 23 years old at the time he died. He had been taken prisoner May 7, 1942, and his death was officially reported as taking place December 14, 1944.

Besides his mother, Sergeant Scally is survived by his brother, at home, and a sister, Mrs. Joseph Lewkowicz, also at 501 Vista Grande avenue, this city.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR—

Broadmoor Resident Explains Why He Has Stopped Payment On His Home

(Ed Note: The following letter is typical of those mailed this week by seven Broadmoor residents to government and private concerns in an effort to gain consideration for their plight in Broadmoor. THE RECORD believes it is of interest to every resident in the area.)

San Francisco, California
January 31, 1952
Federal Housing Administration
180 New Montgomery Street
San Francisco, California

Gentlemen:

As security interest holder on my property at 623 Larchmont Drive, Broadmoor Village, you have been informed of the flood damage resulting from the diversion of water from two sources after we took possession in 1950. To date my home and property has been flooded four times—December 1st and December 3rd, 1951; January 14th and January 26th, 1952. Water and filth from two paved streets and an artichoke patch above came into my house and over my floors, and on each occasion walls and floors have been damaged. My wall-to-wall carpeting has been saturated once and, after being cleaned, has been damaged a second time. My furniture has stood in the mess; my stove and refrigerator, as well as bedding, shoes and clothing have suffered damage. On January 26th, 1952, my water heater cracked from flood waters and had to be replaced. The asphalt tile has cracked and in many places loosened, and the filth is beneath the loosened squares.

My cupboards have sagged and much cracking throughout the house is evident. Bugs and worms have crawled in from under the bath tub, toilet, cupboards and fireplace. My back yard is filled with dirt and my fence has been broken.

Every time we have been flooded, my wife and I have lost time from work and our health has suffered. My wife is now forced on disability until she can recover the damage to her health.

We are both veterans and only accepted this place on F. H. A. approval. Our life savings have been put into it. Stoneson Corporation devised and installed the drainage and diverted the water from two sources (block-topping one source on our property, without permission, months after we moved in). To date no one has been to see me to compensate me for the damage resulting from their criminal negligence.

Considering this, I am sending my check for the monthly payment to the West Portal Branch of the San Francisco Bank and placing it in escrow until such time as my property is restored to its original condition. This is the only way I see to properly look after your security and our loss. I would appreciate any information you have on the matter.

Sincerely,
Arthur S. Nelson

From A Corner

By Bill Katz

Telling some one off is a universal joy which, unfortunately, only eccentrics, cops and millionaires can wallow in without losing jobs and friends.

Not one of us has not been abed evenings dreaming up choice adverbs and adjectives to hurl at the head of the guy or gal who has tramped all over our feelings during the day. Some even transgress into more deadly dreams, inspired with thought of gently twisting the head off of a fond enemy or slowly feeding him to the sharks.

Nature has a way of compensating for this trouble, and by the next day we usually forget all about it.

But every once in a while there pops up the philistine whose memory rivals the elephant, who never forgets a grudge, and enjoys constant thoughts of revenge of a lethal or verbal quality. Such types, barred from immediate expression, usually end their days in prison, or beating their wives. The latter form of escape is preferable, although wives take a dim view of this opinion.

Of such material an acquaintance of ours is made, and this week he had the novel experience of carrying out all his fond dreams. As he prefers collecting dinosaur bones to wives, he has been storing up all these petty hates for a good many years. He owns a radio station in the California desert, and through exposure to sun and sponsors has collected a great number of unfriendly neighbors.

ELECTIONS

County Clerk Urges All Residents To Register Now For City Elections

County Clerk John A. Bruning today stated "Voters operate government on a local, statewide and national basis providing: 1) they register as voters, and 2) they follow through by voting on the day any election is held in their area."

In this way they (the registered voters) have their say as to candidates, their policies and the various propositions presented on the ballots.

Today is "That Day" to register if you are not presently registered or if you have moved without registering. Tomorrow may be too late to vote in a local election because registrations close 54 days preceding any given election in any area of the state. "Register now and then express your preference at any of the many District or Municipal elections to be held throughout the county," said Bruning.

Wednesday, February 13, is the last day to register for fire and police protection district elections and Thursday, February 14, is the final date to register for the many municipal elections scheduled wherein 12 of the 13 cities will ballot on candidates and, in some instances, propositions at their

Station Sold

This week he sold the station. With the prospect of leaving for the San Francisco fog, he proceeded to unload himself with a "load" on. Starting on the east side of the town's one main street, he popped into each business place and popped off in no uncertain terms what he thought about each of his sponsors.

Most of the feather merchants were amazed to the point of laughter. They couldn't take him seriously, except one who promptly offered him a job collecting bills.

Here was this acquaintance doing the one thing we have all dreamed of, at least once a day. And was he happy? He was not. He was miserable. The more people he insulted, the more certain they were he was joking.

The Moral
In disgust, he finally gave up his one man anti-social campaign, threw his suitcase and collection of dinosaur bones into the back of his car, and speeded off of town. He went so fast, he was stopped by a cop who pulled him in for drunk driving.

He was in the jug for one hour, when one of the men he had recently "told off" put up his bail. That was too much for our acquaintance. He broke down and wept, more from frustration, than happiness.

Now, there is obviously a moral here. However, the only one we can see is it pays to keep your grudges to yourself, and when it gets too bad just take it out on your wife. And what ever you do, don't substitute a bag-full of dinosaur bones for a frau.

regularly scheduled April 8th elections.
Register Now
Bruning stated, "It behooves all eligible persons to register properly now so they may vote in the many elections to be held in their immediate vicinity prior to the June 3rd Primary Election."

Deputies will take registrations at the Election-Registration Department in the Court House, at all City Clerks Offices or at the location of any of the Registration Deputies listed here:

COLMA: Michael C. Callan and Thomas J. Callan, Jr., Callan Realty Company, 2790 Junipero Serra Blvd.; Mrs. Virginia Markovich, 1739 Louvaine drive; Mrs. Florence D. Shreve, 708 Thornhill drive; E. A. Weisenberger, City Clerk's Office.

DALY CITY: Ernest E. DaRoz, Fahey Realty Company, 5 Wellington avenue; Frank W. Kent, 252 Los Banos avenue; Peter J. Markovich, 6454 Mission street; Mrs. Florence K. Marilave, 165 Westdale avenue; B. C. Ross, City Clerk's Office, City Hall; Mrs. Helen Villalba, 115 Crocker avenue.

DEAR PARENTS

By Jane Keith

Sunday afternoon Malcolm stepped on a nail out in the backyard.

"Mother," he says, coming into the Sunday paper mess in the living room, "Could a person just step on a nail and walk around on it without knowing?"

"Well," I answered absently—turning to Prince Valiant, "maybe they could if they had real heavy shoes on their feet—like the time you stepped on a thumb tack, remember?"

"Well!" he almost shouts with excitement, "I just stepped on a big long nail out in the yard and I pulled it out of my shoe and threw it away!"

"Malcolm!" I whisper softly, controlling myself, "Was it a rusty nail? Is your foot bleeding? Come over here and let me take your shoe off! Quick!"

There is a big patch of blood spreading roundly on his striped bby's sock and this is too much for Malcolm. He begins to weep and moan softly at the sight.

"I'm bleeding! I'm bleeding!" he says over and over again until he sees the merthiolate bottle coming, then he screams.

There is a slight tussle over the disinfectant, but soon he is banded and resting on his bed for a nap and I am on the telephone calling the doctor about an anti-tetanus shot. I give the doctor the details and hang up with the feeling that all will be well after the booster shot come Tuesday.

Unfortunately, Malcolm is not asleep when I phone. His ears, like the famed "little pitchers" are full of my conversation and up he jumps, ready to talk about rusty nails, infection, lock-jaw, stush and his own tragic experience. . . and we talk about it since I can think of nothing to distract his attention.

Barbara is not helping. She says smugly that she has had lots of shots and implies that her's were far more painful than his will be. "Maybe he won't think it so funny now that HE has to have one!" she adds ghoulishly.

Malcolm's tears are back with that and it is some time before he can get it out that he is afraid the doctor will give him the shot in his foot. "Oh, Mother," he sobs, "What if he did it in my BABY TOE?"

This goes on until bedtime, when the nail he stepped on has grown to be six inches long, very dirty and mass of rust. He is noble, however, in spite of the fact that his inner self tells him he is very ill and running a temperature. Perhaps a story? Yes, a story! And finally he is asleep from exhaustion . . . mumbling into his pillow that the shot will make the germs curl up and die! The way I feel right then!

But, Tuesday comes—and goes. With our trip to the doctor over, the whole thing has become a great adventure . . . an exciting and dangerous adventure that could only happen to a BOY! It loses nothing with the telling and re-telling of its gory details. How do I know? I am listening to Malcolm right now, talking to little Betty Ann Brunette who, it seems, once had a shot because she scratched her hand on a rusty nail.

"But Betty Ann," says Malcolm, "you couldn't step on a big, giant RUSTY nail!"

"I could TOO!" she replies just as firmly.

"BUT YOU DIDN'T!" he answers, and dismissed the case.

Cub Scouts To See Ships Launched At Hunters Point Sat.

Cub Pack 62, Boy Scouts of America, will be guests of the Navy at Hunters Point at the launching Saturday, February 9, of the recommissioned redoubtable aircraft carrier U. S. Intrepid. The Daly City Cubs will also witness the world's largest crane ease four new sea scout ships into the waters of the Bay.

The troupe of Cubs will be in charge of Cub Master Dean Wills and his three assistants, Doug Baughman, A. Morales, and J. Sampino. Parents, especially fathers, are urged to accompany their Cub children and to help furnish transportation to Hunters Point. The group of parents and Cubs will meet at Scout hall on Bellevue avenue.

The executive committee of Cub Pack 62 will meet at the Recreation Center Friday evening, February 8, to plan future picnics, hikes, and visits to historical places.

Lions Prepare For Dinner-Dance Feb. 16th

Plans for the dinner-dance to be held at the Coral Reef, San Bruno, on the evening of Saturday, February 16, for members of the Daly City-Colma Lions club and their ladies, were completed at the regular weekly meeting of the local Lions Wednesday noon.

Birthday greetings were extended to Lion Walter Rector. The speaker was Leon Huntington, manager of RCA Communications and first vice-president of the Host Club, Downtown Lions, San Francisco.

At next week's luncheon meeting the Lions will be shown a film by Joseph Rohl, superintendent of the Daly City branch of the PG&E.

San Francisco's municipal airport is located in San Mateo county.

Tormey To Address Great Books Group Nearer Realization As Interest Mounts

Founder's Day Program Slated

The James L. Snell Unit of the PTA will play host to the County Superintendent of Schools, Mr. James R. Tormey, Wednesday, February 13.

One of the state's foremost educators, Mr. Tormey will address the unit on the subject, "Education Is Your Business."

This meeting also marks the annual observance of Founder's Day, and commemorates the fifth anniversary of the founding of the Parent-Teacher Association.

The Founders Day program this year will be under the direction of Mrs. Stella Jensen, counselor of the unit and past district president.

As is customary at the Founders Day meeting, a life membership in the unit will be presented. The identity of the recipient will be kept secret until the meeting time.

Everyone is invited to this meeting. Enough stress cannot be placed on the importance of each individual in the educational scheme of things—education is really your business, and what more appropriate title for an address by our highest county school official.

The meeting will be held at the Broadmoor Community Center on White street, and will commence promptly at eight o'clock.

GENERAL PERSHING SCHOOL PTA MARKS 50th ANNIVERSARY

An impressive candlelight ceremony marked the observance of Parent-Teacher Founders Day Tuesday, February 5, at the General Pershing school.

The observance was opened with a salute to the flag led by Mrs. Adalia Bautista.

Mrs. A. W. Lauffenburger, past president of General Pershing PTA, addressed the gathering and introduced as guests, Mrs. J. B. Mills, General Pershing counselor; Mrs. H. Dunbar of Westlake; and Mr. H. Z. Welbel, Jefferson Elementary School superintendent.

Past presidents that attended the meeting were Mrs. John Eason, Mrs. M. Woodside, Mrs. I. Marquis, Mrs. V. Davidson, Mrs. L. Eliason, Mrs. E. Duckering, Mrs. G. Freeland and Mrs. A. W. Lauffenburger.

Mrs. M. Noe, life membership chairman, gave her report on its membership and also introduced life members Mrs. John Eason, Mrs. M. Woodside, Mrs. E. Nordgren, Miss Henrietta Engel, Miss Winifred McGrath, Mrs. H. S. Holcomb, Mrs. I. Marquis, Mrs. E. Duckering and Mrs. L. Eliason. All received hankies in the form of bouquets.

Mrs. George Freeland, past president and Mr. H. V. Riedl, retired caretaker, were awarded honorary life memberships.

A new committee was elected to nominate new officers. Those elected were Mrs. Robert Keith, Clarence Sciaroni, Mrs. A. W. Lauffenburger, Mrs. P. Corner and Mrs. John Benanti.

Mrs. Robert Keith reported on the C.P.T. 17th District meeting which took place at the Grace Presbyterian Church, January 17.

Miss Winifred McGrath accepted a 20 inch television set that was presented by the Parent-Teacher association as their gift to the children which will be another educational feature that the school has to offer.

Colma V.F.W. To Hold February Dances

The Veterans of Foreign Wars of Colma will hold a public benefit dance in the evening of the next two Saturdays, February 9 and 16, in Colombo hall.

All proceeds from the beverage bar will be donated to the hospital and building funds. Tom Callan is chairman of arrangements and he is assisted by Walter F. Dorn and Ray Brulez.

The Colma VFW has been visiting the veterans at the Palo Alto hospital once a month, providing the patients with a variety of entertainment.

De Leon Store To Have Open House

The De Leon Music store, 6789 Mission street, will hold open house for its friends and customers following its recent move to these new quarters. It was formerly at 6129 Mission street.

Prizes of record or sheet music will be given the oldest and youngest visitor to the store Sunday. Some lucky student of music, vocal or instrumental, will get a prize of 3 free lessons, too.

The teaching staff sponsored by the store is composed of Mrs. Edna Hyers, piano and violin; Mrs. Josephine Gordon, piano; Mr. Varushka, wind, drum and other band instruments; Mr. Kessler, accordion, former pupil of world-renowned accordionist Gallenri; Manuel De Leon, Hawaiian instruments; and Mrs. Sorino, recently arrived from Honolulu, hula dancing and costuming.

Alameda Director Of Instruction To Address Local PTA

Highlighting the Founder's Night meeting of the Jefferson Union high school PTA on February 14 at 8 p.m. in the school's "Little Theatre" will be an address by Dr. Leonard Grindstaff, Director of Instruction for Alameda schools. "The Family—a Christian Concern," will be his subject.

Other events will include the awarding of a life membership by Mrs. Eve Hobbs, life membership chairman, and the traditional candle-lighting ceremonies, conducted by Mrs. Stella Jensen, past president of 17th District.

Nominations for the nominating committee for new officers will also be accepted.

Mrs. Tina Hollingsworth, program chairman, will present Miss Elaine Duckering, young violin virtuoso. Miss Duckering will be accompanied by Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan.

Coffee and home-made cake will be served.

Red Cross Window Display Plans Set

Plans for the third annual Red Cross window display contest were discussed at a tea given recently by Mrs. C. S. McDowell, display chairman, for the local chapter.

Among those at the Chapter house in Burlingame to report on contest arrangements was Mrs. John C. Wiesner, Colma.

Mrs. McDowell stated the contest has grown to such proportions it has become necessary to have three divisions; amateur senior, amateur junior, and professional. Each town has its own local contest under the direction of its own display chairman. Prizes are offered by local businessmen for the best windows in each division. After the local judging, winning windows are entered in a county-wide contest competing for two Chapter Chairman's gold cups to be awarded for one year to the groups creating the winning windows.

"We hope for more windows this year," Mrs. McDowell said, "their purpose is to stimulate interest in the March Fund Drive, and they really accomplish this judging by the amount of interest shown in previous contests."

"I wish to invited everyone interested in the project to contact the Display Chairman in his local community, or call the Red Cross Chapter house, Burlingame, for further information."

Once again let me emphasize the point that you don't have to be a quiz kid to become an integral part of a Great Books discussion group, for no special educational qualifications are necessary. The only requirements are willingness to read and to face new ideas.

We are planning to attend a special meeting in Belmont to hear Mr. Hemenway, Bay Area director for the Great Books foundation, who will speak on the Great Books program and hold a demonstration discussion. I have been asked (practically drafted, you might say) to be on the panel for this meeting, so in my next article I no doubt will be more qualified to give you a first hand account of just what goes on during a Great Books discussion.

Double Ring Ceremony At Siino-Ottonello Nuptials

In a double ring ceremony performed at Our Lady of Perpetual Help church last Sunday, Joan Carol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Siino, 169 Irvington street, became the bride of Rico L. Ottonello. The bride's father gave her away in marriage. Father William J. Stewart, assistant pastor, officiated.

Miss Siino was radiant in a gown of white satin in redonette style, with Chantilly lace insertions in the long pointed sleeves, with a full skirt train. A Cornet crown encrusted with seed pearls held the bride's fingertip length veil in place. The bridal bouquet consisted of an arrangement of lilies and white orchids.

Founders Day Slated February 8 By Bayshore P.T.A.

The Bayshore Parent Teachers Association Founders Day celebration will be held in the Bayshore school auditorium February 8, at 8 p.m.

The Bayshore PTA has planned an interesting program for the evening under the supervision of the chairman, Mrs. D. Caloiaro. The program will begin with the regular but brief business meeting opened by the renewal of the pledge to the flag by members of Cub pack No. 145.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, the program will start with the introduction of the Founders Day chairman, Mrs. D. Caloiaro who will in turn introduce the past presidents, honored guest, chartered members and the faculty.

A piano selection rendered by Mrs. C. Seivert will start the candle-lighting ceremony which will be presented by the narrator, Mrs. E. Dierzo; first candlelighter, Mrs. H. Falarski; second candlelighter Mrs. L. C. Malloy; and third candlelighter, Mrs. R. M. Caloiaro.

Later, Thelma and Lambert Malloy will present a pantomime and vocal selection. A tap dance by Sandra Machi will bring the program to a close.

A cordial invitation is extended to all readers.

Original Friendly Neighbors To Meet

The Original Friendly Neighbors club will meet at the home of Mrs. Eve Hobbs, 8 Risel street, Valentine evening, February 14. Refreshments will be served and entertainment furnished.

The club recently held a lunch at the Sir Francis Drake hotel in San Francisco, when 10 members attended.

Westlake PTA To Hold Canasta Party Feb. 15

Westlake PTA will hold a Valentine Canasta Party at the Club house on Friday, February 15th at 8 p.m.

Committee members and officers will have tickets Thursday evening February 7. Reservations may also be made by telephoning PLaza 5-3684 or PLaza 5-8638. Tickets are limited to 120.

She wore a matching sweetheart shaped picture hat of lace and net caught in the back with a small cluster of flowers and matching mitts. She carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

Bridesmaids Carol Siino, sister of the bride, Sylvia Sandstrom and Angela Ottonello wore similar gowns of pale yellow and carried bouquets of purple carnations.

The new benedict, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ottonello, was accompanied by the chancel by his best man, Tito Sarto. Ushers were

NEW ARRIVALS

REGIS

Mr. and Mrs. William Regis, 768 Niantic avenue, are even up with Edie Cantor and his wife in the business of female progeny—they, too, now have five daughters. This was accomplished with the birth of Mary Ann, 6 pounds, 9 ounces of infant feminine pulchritude at St. Joseph's hospital on January 30, following a fast taxi ride in a cab driven by James Wilson of the Hilltop Cab company. Just nine minutes after the race with the stork was won Mrs. Regis was delivered of the new daughter. That was at 2:29 p.m.

Mary Ann's sisters are Annetto, 10½; Pearl, 9; Donna, 6½; and Geraldine, 3.

Just by way of prediction that a boy was still in the offing for Mrs. Regis, the attendant nurse at the delivery waved an airy "I'll see you back in 9 months and 15 minutes" to the five-times Mother as she left the hospital.

Church News

Rev. Harbert's Topic Sunday "Becoming Complete In Christ"

"Becoming complete in Christ" will be the subject of the sermon to be delivered by the Rev. Dr. William Harberts, pastor of the Grace Presbyterian Church, Crocker at Winchester, on Sunday at 11 a.m., February 10.

Dr. Harberts expressed his gratification at the attendance of last Sunday's Bible classes by several new families.

On Tuesday, February 12, at 1 p.m., Circle Two will meet at the church for a luncheon. Mrs. G. B. Day will act as hostess. Mrs. D. C. Ross will lead the study lesson on the Gospel of John at the luncheon.

On Wednesday evening at 7:45 o'clock the choir will hold a rehearsal under the leadership of Director Miss Miriam Walker.

A new and used clothing sale will be held at the Masonic hall, 17 Hillcrest drive, by Circle Five, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. A merchants' lunch will be served from 11 o'clock in the morning until 2 p.m. The lunch is open to the general public.

Members Donate Time To Church Building

More than 30 members of the Broadmoor Community Presbyterian church, 87th street, west of Junipero Serra boulevard, during the past week worked on the interior of the new education building in an all-out effort to make it ready for the scheduled dedication on Palm Sunday. Another 70 men of the congregation have volunteered their services for the coming weeks.

Hence, instead of the usual men's meeting on Monday evening, the men who wish to help on the interior of the new building will next Monday, February 11, hold a work meeting. They are urged then to check with John LePine regarding their hours and kind of work they can do.

The usual order of services will prevail at the Broadmoor Community Presbyterian church on Sunday, February 10, except that the morning worship at 11 o'clock will be given over to the special recognition of the work of scouts in the community.

Adult choir practice will be held Thursday evening, with emphasis on the preparation of Easter choral music.

Membership Drive At Winston Manor Baptist Church

The Winston Manor Community Baptist church, which meets in the Nobel chapel of the Cypress Lawn Memorial Park, has announced a charter membership drive which will continue to May 1. The drive will be signaled by a banquet to be held on Saturday, May 3.

In announcing the drive the pastor, Rev. Richard E. Eggert, says that "Charter membership is open to all born-again believers in the Lord Jesus Christ and also to those persons who accept Him as personal savior and Lord of their lives."

On Sunday, February 10, at 9:45 a.m. Sunday school will be held for all age groups. At 11 o'clock in the morning the worship service will be held and the pastor will preach a sermon on "Jesus and the Key to Power." The evening service will take place at 7:30 p.m. in one of the homes of members, the place to be announced at the morning worship service.

The mid-week prayer and praise service on the subject of "Sharing blessings and burdens" will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mills, 15 Graystone drive, Winston Manor, at 8 o'clock.

Revival At Nazarene Church To Close

The visiting revivalist, Don Cook, student at Pasadena college, will close the week-long revival at Grace Church of the Nazarene at the Sunday evening services Sunday, February 10, at 7:45 o'clock.

The pastor, Rev. Carlos L. Stepp, Jr., is gratified at the large and enthusiastic turnout which has been the case during the entire week of revival services which Mr. Cook has conducted.

Sunday's services will be held as follows: 9:45 a.m., Sunday school; 11 a.m., morning worship; 7:45 p.m., evening prayer.

On Wednesday evening, February 13, at 7:45 o'clock, the regular mid-week services will be held in the church.

Rev. Vyron Fender Will Preach On Hell Next Sunday

The minister, Vyron Fender, will deliver a sermon on "Biblical facts about hell" at the morning worship service at 11 o'clock at the Ocean View Church of Christ next Sunday. Special music will feature the service. There will be no evening service this coming Sunday.

The young people's choir will meet for practice on Wednesday evening at 7:15 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Thompson, 56 Goethe street. The regular mid-week prayer meeting and Bible study will be held at the Thompson home at 8 p.m., following the choir rehearsal.

Anyone wishing transportation to any service please call PLaza 5-6179.

Rev. Marting Will Attend Pastoral Conference Tues.

The pastor, Rev. Louis C. Marting, of Hope Lutheran church, which temporarily meets in the Broadmoor Community center, will attend a one-day pastoral conference in San Jose next Tuesday, February 12.

The topic of the Rev. Marting's sermon next Sunday, February 10, at the 11 a.m. service will be "The modern slave—Martha," taken from Luke 10: 38-42. Sunday school, under G. Gray, superintendent, will be held at 9:45 a.m. on the subject of "Jesus stills the tempest."

The young people's rally will be held next Sunday, too. Registration will get underway at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon at Grace Lutheran church, Brussels and Bacon streets, San Francisco, where the rally will be held.

At the evening vesper service Prof. Walter Rubke of Concordia college will bring a message. Supper and entertainment will follow the vesper service.

Men's Brotherhood To Hold Forum In Lutheran Church Of Our Savior

The Men's Brotherhood of the Lutheran Church of Our Savior is planning a forum on universal military training at its regular monthly meeting, to be held in the church, Garfield and Junipero Serra boulevard. All men of the community are invited to participate in the discussion. Mr. Clifford Pearson, president of the Brotherhood, will preside.

The order of services at the church next Sunday will be: Sunday school and Bible classes at 9:45 a.m.; divine services at 11 a.m. The pastor, Rev. Robert C. Konzelman will preach.

On Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, February 17, the vested junior choir will render a special choral program.

Pre-Lenten Sermon To Be Delivered At Bethel Lutheran

The first of three pre-Lenten sermons will be preached next Sunday, February 10, at the 10:45 o'clock worship service in the Bethel Lutheran church, Alemany boulevard and Huron avenue.

The subject for the sermon next Sunday will be "What shall I have?" The choir will render special music under the direction of Mrs. Florence Henderson. Sunday school will be held at 9:30 a.m.

On Friday evening, February 8, at 8 o'clock, a feature-length movie entitled "Stewardship" will be shown in the parish house. This picture has been produced in connection with the ten million dollar expansion program, known as "Conquest for Christ," of the Lutheran church, Missouri Synod.

Jay Pfotenbauer, attorney and prominent churchman, will address the gathering at the movie. Refreshments will also be served then.

March of Dimes Women Served Coffee And Cake By Mrs. Gravatt

Mrs. Bill Gravatt served coffee and cake to her co-members of the Friendly Neighbors club at her home, 130 Abbott avenue, Colma, following the March of Dimes recently. Those participating in the collection for victims of polio are also members of the Jefferson elementary school PTA. A total of $241.00 was collected.

Those who were present at the serving of coffee and cake were Miss Amelia Caimo, Mrs. Eleanor Doyle, Mrs. Doris Oimanson, Mrs. Pat Urbans, Mrs. Wilmar Van Aken, Mrs. Jerry Bickers, Mrs. Lorraine Bovero, Mrs. Pat Bookout, Mrs. Rita Hudson, and Mrs. Monty Gambelin.

Sheridan School PTA Collects $1,101.32 In March of Dimes

Mrs. J. F. Harrop, president of the Sheridan school PTA, wishes to express her thanks to all those who made the recent March of Dimes campaign a success.

Approximately 85 parents covered the Sheridan school district during the hour-long March of Mothers on the evening of January 31. A total of $1,101.32 was raised for polio victims.

KATHLEEN NORRIS Eternal Problem

"I AM a successful business woman who wants to get married," writes Katherine Rich, of Portland, Oregon. "I'm 33, goodlooking in a lifeless sort of way, and independent. My mother, at 54, married again last year; I live with a cousin, her four little girls, her mother, her sister and the sister's little girl. And in the kitchen we have Lula and Lula's Emmy. A household of women, and I get so tired of it!"

"I don't want to live alone; no smart bachelor girl stuff for me. I've tried that. My hope was to meet interesting men and make men friends, but it worked down in a few months to one man, dull, with money enough to bring ducks, caviar, wine and mushrooms up to my flat, and to smoke there in great comfort while I cooked dinner. Once when I protested that I'd like to go out now and then, he amiably asked me how often? I said, angrily, once a week, to see what he would say. He asked, what night? In a fury I said Friday, and after that he came dressed and ready on Friday, with flowers. We never went out any other time, and I never had gardenias except on Fridays.

Angry Experience

Finally, I was the one who suggested marriage. I said that we might as well be married as dine together five times a week, and feel obliged to account to each other for any nights we missed. And to my lasting humiliation he was shocked beyond words. No, that would spoil everything, he said, he had been married years before, as I knew. He said he wouldn't ever marry again, simple comfortable friendship for him. Well, I was raging, and what I really raged at, I suppose, was that I wasn't in love with him in the least, and had felt that my suggestion was extremely generous. This experience influenced me in breaking up my apartment and joining the family.

"... grab me in his arms ..."

"My cousin has been married twice, once widowed, once divorced. My other cousin is divorced, and has a heavy beau. Even Tam, the oldest girl, has serious beaux at 15. They don't know, I don't let them know, that I'd almost rather have an unsuccessful marriage than be the way I am!"

"You don't know how I long for a man. Doesn't that sound ridiculous, doesn't that sound like the frilled and feminine ladies of 100 years ago? But it's true. I want a man's companionship. I want to sit opposite him at breakfast, in my prettiest house dress, with sunshine coming in on the silver coffee-pot. I want him to love me, grab me in his arms when he comes in at night, tell me his troubles, plan holidays with me. I want to hear him say 'my wife,' when he introduces me to his friends. I want some day to tell my family that there's going to be a baby.

Missed The Bus

"The years are rushing by me. How have I missed the 'bus'? At what point along the road have I put myself into the category of the superfluous smart business woman? Help me. In 10 years I will have reached an age when this sort of happiness is often out of reach. I've a lot to give; no woman could have had the office discipline I've survived or have reached the position I have without developing a good deal of common sense. My relations in our mixed family have always been harmonious; I'm nice looking. Here's my picture, wedding in the back yard, with a seven-year-old niece. What's the matter with me that I can't seem to find, much less interest, the right man?"

And Kate includes a snapshot of a really attractive, intelligent-looking woman in a sweater and slacks, laughing, in a garden, with a laughing small girl. Her problem is an old one, and an eternally unanswered one. What is it, in certain completely worthless young females, girls who are selfish and cold and domestically incompetent, girls who never heard of a budget, never liked a baby, girls who have made marital failures before, who have shown no affection for their families—what is it that they have that Kate hasn't?

The girl who wins a man is usually charmingly attentive and flattering when she first meets him. She may not mean it; she probably does not, but she follows his duldest lead with pretty enthusiasm. She leaves him, even after that first casual meeting, with a warm sense that he really has made quite an impression on her. She tells him how domestic, how trusting, how lovingly hungry she is, and he believes her. For a long time he believes her. Even when he ought to know, if he has wits at all, that marriage for her is only a springboard.

EL RANCHO DRIVE IN THEATRE, Junipero Serra Blvd. and El Camino Real, Colma, turns over $379.85 to the March of Dimes. Mr. Irwin B. McMonagle, president of the El Rancho Drive-In Theatre Corporation (in center of photo), stated that almost every person attending the theatre during the week of January 23 thru 29 contributed to this worthy cause. Mrs. Maxine Smith, one of the theatre attendants, presented an enlarged facsimile of the check to Mr. Henry Messelwitz, Executive Secretary of the San Mateo County Chapter for the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis. The entire amount contributed to the Local Chapter will be used in San Mateo County.

Daly City, Colma, Broadmoor Donate Record Sum In Local March of Dimes

The Daly City, Colma and Broadmoor PTA Marching Mothers exceeded all expectations when last Thursday night they collected an approximate total of $2,663.37 in the March of Dimes campaign for help to polio victims.

Mrs. Sanford Vickers was chairman in the drive and Mrs. Joseph Doyle assisted her as co-chairman. Scout Troop No. 249 lent their help as did the Daly City police department, the latter turning their office over to the mothers for the collection of unit donations.

PTA Founders Day Honored In Colma

The Colma PTA celebrated Founders Day at the Community Center, Dunk off Washington street, Tuesday, February 5. Mrs. Stella Jensen, past president of the 17th district PTA and honorary life membership chairman, gave a talk on "Today's Gift Educates Tomorrow's Teachers."

An honorary life membership and pin was presented to Mrs. John C. Wiesner, president of the Colma PTA, by Mrs. William Chessman, life membership chairman. The honor came to Mrs. Wiesner for her work for child welfare, community service and leadership.

The past presidents and honorary life members were guests of the evening and presented a Candle Lighting Ceremony. "Our Goals," Those present and taking part were: Past Presidents (and Mesdames) Tina Hollingsworth, George Bertucci, Gino Landi, Edward J. Denis, and Mrs. D. Hopper; and Honorary Life J. D. VILLAGE NOTES

by
Mrs. Mark Swoverland
PLaza 5-4158

Everyone is out enjoying this beautiful spring weather and last month's storms are almost forgotten. The village carries on with the news of parties, house guests and visits from the stork.

LARCHMONT

Sharon Morgan celebrated her second birthday at a family gathering last Sunday. The hosts were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morgan.

Lt. Col. William Clifford and his family are moving to their new home in Novato.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Fies were her sister, Mrs. Geo. Bowman, and her son, Glenn. They visited here for ten days prior to sailing for Tokyo, Japan, there to join Major Bowman.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lawrence are proud parents of a baby son born at St. Mary's hospital, weighing 6½ pounds.

FOOTHILL

Trevor Jones is now at Franklin hospital undergoing surgery for a hand injury. We all wish him the best of luck and a speedy recovery.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. Denver Greer, Jr., has returned from the hospital and is recuperating at home.

JUNIOR ASSOCIATION IN WESTLAKE TO HOLD INITIATION FEB. 13

The six young ladies who were recently received as members of the Westlake Junior Association will be initiated at ceremonies to be held at the home of Nancy Livernois, 56 Parkwood drive, on Wednesday evening, February 13.

With the addition of the new members, the association now numbers twenty. The initiates are Lillian Lederer, Beverly Frederickson, Gail Stawil, Donna Kauffman, Joanne Ladner, and Peggy Duman.

Association members are now making scrapbooks of jokes, these to be donated to Letterman General hospital when completed. Pins, designating membership, which may be worn either on a necklace or lapel, have been ordered by the members.

Although coffee trees frequently attain a height of 20 feet, they generally are kept down to about six feet to facilitate gathering the ripe berries.

City were guests Tuesday evening of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hopper.

SWEETWOOD

Major and Mrs. Kenneth McEwen were hosts last week at a neighborhood party. The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kauffman, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Edler, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Mattison, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Frank, and Mr. and Mrs. Chris Gnesios.

MIDWAY

Frankie Prince celebrated his seventh birthday at a lunch and theatre party last Saturday. Those attending were Peter Tobin, John Stedman, Carolyn and Freddy Hilder, Ruth Thompson, Judy Bell, Kenton Lawson, Betsy Foster, and Lee Prince.

HERE AND THERE

This is Boy Scout Week and in celebration the boys of Cub Pack 84 and Scout Troop 84 are holding a Father-Son banquet in the Colma Community Center. The scouts are also attending church as a group this Sunday, where special recognition will be given of this event.

The Women's Association of the Broadmoor Community church met last Monday evening with Mrs. Gladys Fies presiding. The decorations and social followed a Valentine motif.

See you again next week with more news of Village note.

Enchanted Hills Slate Auction

Money To Be Used For Welfare Of Blind

Here is your opportunity to participate in a most worthy cause. The Enchanted Hills Club, a group of blind and sighted citizens interested in the welfare of the blind, will hold an auction of new, donated articles on Monday, February 11, at 7 p.m., 11 O'Farrell street, San Francisco.

All funds raised will be used for the improvement of "Enchanted Hills," a camp and summer resort for blind children, operated by "Recreation For The Blind."

A football, autographed by all players who participated in the recent East-West Shrine Football Game, is among the articles to be auctioned.

The Mexican Congress declared secularization of California missions on August 17, 1833.

Dozen Major Changes Made In Hunting And Fishing Regulations For 1952

The Fish and Game Commission has sifted nearly two hundred recommendations from all sources and come up with the new hunting and angling regulations that will govern more than one and-a-half million licensed California sportsmen during 1952.

In the second day of its final regulatory powers meeting in Los Angeles, the five-man conservation body took legal action which placed about a dozen major changes from last year's regulations into effect March 1.

Highlights of the 1952 hunting and angling laws include:

Trout angling season between May 30 and October 31 in Modoc, Lassen, Plumas, Sierra, Nevada, Placer, Eldorado, Amador, Alpine, Calaveras, Tuolumne, and Del Norte counties, streams on the coast of Humboldt county, and Bucks Lake in Plumas county. Elsewhere in the State, including Tahoe, Donner, Boca, Almonor, Butte, and Pillsbury lakes, the season extends from May 3 to October 31.

Deer Hunting

Deer hunting will be legal in central coastal and south coastal areas from August 9 to September 14. The north coastal and inland, or Sierra, areas will be opened to buck hunting from September 20 to October 19. The bag limit will be two bucks, except in the inland area, including San Diego county, where the seasonal limit is one.

The triangular area between U. S. Highway 99 and 97 north of Weed in Siskiyou county was transferred to the north coastal two-buck area. The 10-day archery hunting seasons will end five days before opening of the firearms hunting seasons in each area.

The 10-day pheasant hunting season begins November 22. A daily limit of two birds may be taken, half of which may be hens in San Benito, Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Kern, San Bernardino, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside, San Diego, and Imperial counties.

For the first time, special seasons were declared on snowshoe rabbits in Inyo and Mono counties, and mountain quail in portions of seven central California counties. Two snowshoes per day may be taken between November 22 and

He Stands To Eat His Meals; He Sat On Nail

Larry Bergna, 9, of 60 Risel street will be eating his meals standing up for the next few days. Attendance at school will pose a problem in discipline, too, unless Larry can negotiate an inflated tire, the center of which can protect his aching posterior.

This was all made necessary when Larry sat down rather hard on a rusty old nail when the horse he was playing with in the Crocker Hills Sunday pushed him. He was treated in Junipero Serra hospital for a "stab" wound and sent home, the better informed young man in hose lore.

December 31, while four mountain quail is the daily bag limit from October 11 to October 19.

Shooting Hours

Shooting hours for all species of game, including waterfowl, will be from one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset. Between November 22 and December 1, shooting starts at 8 a.m., and ends at 4:30 p.m. in all counties north of San Luis Obispo, Kern, and San Bernardino.

The Commission imposed a closed season on salmon in ocean waters south of Tomales Point from November 16 to February 14. A size limit of 22 inches was set for all ocean salmon.

Surf smelt, also known as white bait, day fish and night fish, will be subject to a new take and possession limit of 25 pounds per day. Salt water perch has a new possession limit of 25 fish per day north of the San Luis Obispo-Monterey county line, and 10 south of the line.

Bag Limit

The new bag limit on marlin, swordfish and black sea bass is two.

All abalone fishermen must carry "an accurate measuring device" when taking abalones. The use of artificial breathing devices were outlawed in the taking of crustaceans and mollusks.

District 19, which includes ocean waters off the coast of Ventura, Los Angeles, Orange, and San Diego counties, will see a new closed season on clam fishing between May 1 and August 31.

Local Boy Accused Of Plowing Into Horseback Riders

Donald Perrin, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Romeo Perrin, 238 Acton street, is in the San Francisco juvenile detention home since his arrest by Officer Arthur Linhares of the Daly City police department Monday evening.

Young Perrin's arrest followed an investigation by both the San Francisco and Daly City police forces into the injuries suffered by local adolescents and the killing of the horse ridden by one of them Sunday evening by an alleged hit and run driver on the west side of Lake Merced boulevard.

The seven youngsters in the riding party all told police that the car, a Buick, was traveling at least 60 or 70 miles an hour when it struck the horse ridden by Wayne Dillaboy, 17, of 261 First avenue, killing the animal instantly.

Joan Neal, 13, 189 Alexander street, and Bonnie Balcum, 17, of 663 Crocker avenue, both of Daly City, were thrown from their mounts when their horses bolted.

Car Abandoned

Shortly after the driver of the hit and run car had plowed into the group of children, the car, a 1931 Buick, was found abandoned on Font boulevard, 200 feet east of Lake Merced and was not a "hot rod," according to Patrolman Aliotti of the San Francisco police department.

When the car was traced through its license number it was found to be the property of Romeo Perrin. The elder Perrin told police that his son, Donald, had borrowed the automobile without his father's permission Sunday evening and that "Donald is not a very good driver."

A check by both THE RECORD and the Daly City police disclosed that Donald did not return to his parental home Sunday night. He was later apprehended by Officer Linhares. With him was Gary Adwood, also 15, of 95 Crescent avenue, San Francisco, alleged to have been in the car at the time the Buick rammed into the horse. He, too, was turned over to the neighboring city's juvenile authorities.

Jefferson Indians Go Down To Defeat Before Burlingame Panthers

By RAY SCHMITKE

It was old downcast week at Jefferson as Mr. Defeat discouraged the hopes and dreams of PAL fame for the local Jefferson squad. On the first day of February the Orlich troop marched on the wooden battle field of the Burlingame Panthers court and were helplessly downed in a 43 to 63 skirmish. After a four day rest period the Indian five again packed their grips and prepared to resume their winning ways. But the big cat's roar of the Lincoln Lions proved to be too powerful for the Daly City men, for in the last quarter of play the Lions were successful in achieving two more tallies than the Jefferson tribe and won out in a thrilling 38 to 40 stand.

Ball Handling Didn't Help

An item which can not be overlooked in the Panther-Indian tussel is the consistent trouble the Jefferson men were having in controlling their passes. As most of you know who have seen the local team in action, a good portion of Jeff's power lies in their efforts in working off the center post. For throwing the ball to center and then creating a team working pattern is at this time Jefferson's biggest asset. But in this affair the bad passes and fakes gave the Redskins too few opportunities to score from that vital center post.

Don Delbon, although miffing a few shots, was successful once again in hitting double figures. Don toted a nineteen point mark to keep his average up with the PAL leaders at this point. Larry Blanchard, who shares forward position with Don Delbon, hit for twelve in this game to rank him second in scoring for his team.

Jeff Sweats It Out

"They just don't come any closer!" was the general consensus about the Jefferson-Lincoln of San Jose meeting which ended in a 38 to 40 tally for the Lions.

San Jose, with Bourguignon's six points, took the first quarter by one tie 9-11. Continuing his scoring spree Bourguignon tanked three more field goals and a single free throw to bring the score up at the end of the first half 19 to 22. The third quarter found the grueling battle still expoding with excitement and hard playing as Larry Blanchard gave the Jefferson rosters something to cheer as he preceded to take over the position of high point man for Jeff. But the Indians still found themselves behind when the third quarter buzzer sounded and left the scoreboard to read 30-33, San Jose Lions.

That fourth frame of the Jefferson tilt was the wildest we have seen in many a moon. Fighting, shooting, and rough and tough following were the key sights of action in this truly memorable quarter. But there's always on person who stands out in a last quarter such as this that can be called a hero and Dick Garrett of Lincoln seems to fill the bill for this contest. Garrett scored two field goals in the last frame to give the Lions that extra surge of power that finally won out for them. The final tab again, Jefferson 38, Lincoln 40.

30's Still On Beaten Path

The Jefferson 30's are still in the division of no wins as the seventh league game came to a close. The 30's lost to Burlingame, 25 to 30 last Friday and dropped Tuesday's tilt by a score of 34 to 40 to the bustling Lincoln team from down south.

Tonight the Jefferson varsity and 30's team meet Capuchino high school at Cupchino at 7:30. Tomorrow the Indians squads face Redding at 1:30 on the Jefferson hardwoods.

Perpetual Help Basketeers Trounce Colma Rivals In Both A And B Class

By HARRY ARONSON

The O.L.P.H. "A" team gave notice of their intentions to win the "A" league championship by thrashing the Colma Rockets "A" team, 40 to 13. The Colma team was without the services of several of their first string players. However, it is this writer's opinion that, had the regulars played, the O.L.P.H. team would have won just the same. They are now tied in a three-way battle for first place in the "A" division.

Jack Brush, O.L.P.H. guard, turned in a fine floor game and led his team by scoring 16 points. The other O.L.P.H. scorers were, Ben Peralta with 10, Al Gerrans 8, Nick Sutter 4, and Jerry Sullivan 2. Waldo Benavides and Ray Brush played in the game but did not score.

For the Colma Rockets Andy Ruelas was the bright star as he poured 11 points through the baskets, to score all but two of his team's total of 13. Don Perrin contributed the other two points. Ken Klees, Charles Thur and Frank Neuman were the other Rockets participating in the league fray.

Tomorrow, Friday, February 8, the Colma Rockets and Jets will again engage the O.L.P.H. "A" and "B" teams in league competition.

O.L.P.H. Bees, 33 to 6

The Perpetual Help "B" team scored an impressive win over the lads from Colma last Friday, February 1, when they outclassed their smaller foe by drubbing them 33 to 6. The game was never in doubt as to which team would win. Perpetual Help held a 15 to 4 lead at the half way mark, and continued its scoring parade in the second half.

Lee Casentini, O.L.P.H. center, was the big wheel for his team, scoring 12 points; followed by Eddie Hyndman with 6, Dick Swickard 6, "B" Bob Brandt 4, Gary Martinelli 3, and Tommy Fenn 2. Other O.L.P.H. players in the game were, Don Weckerle, Danny Curtin, Mike Sullivan, Dick Garibaldi, Henry Oliver, Robert Nunes, Joe Murphy, and George

Yo-Yo Playground Championship To Be Decided Feb. 16

The second Yo-Yo contest held at Lincoln Playground on Saturday, February 2, attracted seven contestants and produced three new winners who are now eligible to compete for their playground championship which will be held on Saturday, February 16. The boy who competed and their scores were, first place, Pat Lena, 70 points; second place, Ron Rivers, 55; third place, Phil Liberti, 50; Jim Ward, 40; Charles Halliday 35; B. Khinoo 25; and D. Sharp, 15 points.

The winners and contestants from Marchbanks Park were, first place, Myron Kay, 75 points; second place, Nick Sutter, 75; and third place went to Mike Donham with 50 points; Phil Quigona scored 45 and Bill Quigona had 10. Myron Kay was awarded the first place shield on a playoff for the tie score. The third contest will be staged at the playgrounds next Saturday at 11 a.m.

Del Feh, Ed Waltz and Lloyd Selmi Capture Honors At Bowling Contest

With 19 weeks of the Daly City-Colma Bowling League now history, the rest of the teams have only 9 weeks left to wrest first place from the firm hold the Lions have on it—and have had from the start right down the line to and including last Monday's games.

The latest official standing place the Lions atop the league with 32 wins against 25 losses. Their nearest rival is the Central Club, trailing with 30 victories and 27 defeats.

A triple tie locks College Hill Market, Lombardi and the Foresters in the third spot. Thur, Eagles and Brisbane follow in that order.

Del Fehl Tops

In Monday evening's games, February 4, Del Feh of the Central Club topped the field with the high score for three games with a knockdown record of 559 pins. The high for one game was made by Lloyd Selmi of the Lions, with a 233 score.

Ed Waltz of the Lombardi's was runnerup to Feh with 550 toppled in three games.

Teen Agers To Be Instructed About Narcotics In Educational Campaign

The office of the county superintendent of schools has taken the leadership in securing and distributing information to the schools, as well as to various parent and service groups in the county relative to the illicit use of narcotics by juveniles.

In the spring of 1951, a meeting of all the administrators and the County Board of Education was called by County Superintendent of Schools James R. Tormey to discuss ways and means of combating the problem which had developed as a result of the cases brought to light in the county. At that time, the administrators agreed that an over-all program of gathering data, supplying materials and securing expert speakers should be placed in the hands of the County Superintendent. Walter R. Creighton, Chief of the County Bureau of Narcotics Enforcement, was the principal speaker before this group, and he outlined suggested procedures.

Program Developed

As a result of this meeting, a program was developed by which information could be brought before parents, community groups, and schools so they might be alerted to the dangers of the narcotic problem. It was stressed that close cooperation between the county office, the schools, the probation department, the local police departments, the sheriff's office, the district attorney's office and the State Narcotics Enforcement bureau was highly desirable. To this end many speaking engagements were arranged for community groups, and films and other materials were brought before these assemblies.

Many teaching aids were gathered by the Office of the County Superintendent. Among these

Edgewood - Hillside Manor Will Take Joint Civic Action

Pointing out in a circular letter that "... the primary purpose of this association is to sponsor and promote civic improvements for the benefit of the entire community," the Edgewood Terrace Civic Association will hold a re-grouping meeting at Jefferson Union high school, in Room 19, 8 o'clock in the evening of Wednesday, February 13.

It is hoped that a close-knit organization of property owners and lessees of both Edgewood and Hillside Manor will be effected at this meeting, and that therefor the organization will be known as the Edgewood-Hillside Manor Civic Association.

Tentative plans for such pooling of interests were laid at a recent meeting of the following: Woody Chellen, Del Wilson, Ken Van Aken, Ray Urbanus, Sanford Vickers, Joe Doyle, Owne MacNealy, and J. Baird.

Projected Improvements

Some of the improvements the association will support are the paving of Alp street; improving Vista Grande street; more frequent sweeping of the streets of Daly City; police protection for children crossing Hillside boulevard; traffic control on Hillside boulevard and Mission street; action to prevent further slides on dead-end streets in the Edgewood area; and recreation facilities in Edgewood.

Floyd Gonella Given Graduation Party

Last Thursday evening a graduation party was given in honor of Floyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amadeo Gonella, at their home, 122 Winchester street. Floyd was a recent graduate of Jefferson Union high school and since Monday, February 4, is a student at San Mateo Junior college.

The table decorations at the party were done in blue and gold, Jefferson high school colors.

Those present at the graduation event, besides the parents of the honored guest, were his brother, Ray F. Benzo, Alma Comacho, Francis Karcher, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ragni, Mrs. Antonia Trimoliro, Mr. and Mrs. N. Matteucci, Mr. and Mrs. John Pesce, Mr. and Mrs. F. de Coido, Mr. and Mrs. J. Rivetria, Mr. and Mrs. F. Zocki, Mr. and Mrs. J. Franco, Mrs. Don Lunghi, Peter Conci, Miss Shirley Rasor, Miss Marge Duncan, Miss Jean Sproule, Tom Boskey, Miss Dolores Franco, Don Johnson, Paul Campion, Mrs. Mary Lamb and Frankie Wayne, Jr., course of study. One of the important parts of this program was a section involving the teaching of the effects of narcotics.

Several meetings have been held to plan the course of study and many study groups heard Dr. Byrd evaluate the program.

The conference will be held at Sequoia high school, Redwood City, on Wednesday, February 27.

County Teachers Taxed More Than One Million Dollars

Well over $1,000,000 of earnings of school employees of this county were withheld for federal income tax payments during the calendar year 1951, according to County Superintendent of Schools James R. Tormey.

One million, one hundred and sixty-three thousand dollars were withheld as federal income tax payments for certificated and non-certificated school employees during the calendar year 1951. In addition, Tormey pointed out that approximately $650,000 were also deducted from payrolls for teachers' retirement and annuity, and non-certificated retirement.

During the calendar year 1952 the County Office estimates that over $1,500,000 will be withheld for federal income tax payments from school district employees, with other deductions approaching the $1,000,000 mark.

THOUSANDS KILLED THROUGH CARELESSNESS

Each year thousands of pedestrians are killed through carelessness, points out the National Automobile Club. When walking near traffic the wiser ones pay careful attention to what is going on all around them. They keep their heads up and their eyes open, and watch to see how others are walking, others are driving. By doing so they help keep themselves safe.

Winter Cantata To Be Given Saturday By Jefferson High

Something new in the way of a winter cantata will be staged at the Jefferson Union high school auditorium Friday evening, February 9. The usual cantata is strictly limited to choral music, but the Jefferson high affair this year will add pantomime and modern dancing to dramatize the Longfellow story of "The childhood of Hiawatha."

Miss Judy Seaton, choral teacher, will direct the singing, while Mrs. Mary Newswanger is in charge of the pantomime and dancing.

There will be special costuming and scenic and lighting effects to highlight the rendition of the choral drama. Musical scores were written by Ira Wilson.

The entire affair will be under the sponsorship of the music department of the local high school. In addition to the already enumerated features, the school band will lend its efforts to making it the gala success it is expected to be.

The people of Daly City and surrounding area are urged to attend as a token of their support of this educational and civic effort.

High School Pupils Produce And Sell Own Merchandise

Some Jefferson Union high school students are making money, getting experience in managing their own businesses and gaining many satisfied customers. These ambitious students from the Daly City high school are members of Junior Achievements. Achievement, a nation-wide organization sponsored by the businessmen of the various cities of the U. S., helps these teen agers form their own corporations in which they manufacture and sell their products.

The company which has made such a favorable impression on Daly City is the Glo Manufacturing Co. sponsored by Blake, Moffitt & Towne. This company, a co-operative of the students, produces a dishwashing detergent named GLO. The members of this company purchase the raw materials necessary, mix it, bottle and label it and sell it to grocery and restaurant owners. Here in Daly City, GLO can be found in the Budget Savings Store, Spring Valley Market, B & B Grocery, Farmers Meat Market, Vista Grande Market, Westlake Market and Ross Grocery.

Will Display Saturday
Those interested in this new product and the young people who make it, may drop into the Budget Savings Store on Mission street this Saturday, February 9, from 11 to 12 a.m. and watch the demonstration that will be put on by the workers of the Glo Mfg. Co.

Some of the members of this student company are Diane Endres, Dianne and Roberta Furger, and Cecilia Sullivan.

FORD FOR '52 Entirely New Six-Cylinder Engine Offered In All Ford Models For '52

Ford for 1952 offers a more powerful Ford V-8 engine, an entirely new six-cylinder engine, and the widest choice of power train combinations for passenger cars in the high volume field.

Ford's Strato-Star V-8 has been redesigned to step up the horsepower to 110 and to increase its torque to 196 pounds feet. Ford has made more than 12,000,000 and is the world's largest builder of V-8 engines.

The new six-cylinder engine for 1952 is called the Mileage Maker Six, and the Ford Motor Company built a multi-million dollar engine plant at Cleveland, Ohio, to manufacture it.

The Mileage Maker Six, rated at 101 horsepower and 176 pounds feet torque is a high-compression low-friction overhead valve engine developed during four years of research. It was designed for adaptability to higher compression ratios to take advantage of gasolines with higher anti-knock ratings when the fuels become available.

However, both passenger car engines are designed to operate on regular gasolines.

Only Ford
Only Ford in its field offers a choice of six-cylinder and V-8 engines and it also is exclusive in offering the option of three transmissions — Fordomatic, the Ford automatic transmission; the Ford overdrive, and the conventional transmission.

Six power combinations—either of the two engines with any of the three transmissions—are available on all models in the Mainline and the Customline, except the Country Sedan.

The Country Sedan is powered by the V-8 as are the Crestline models, the Sunliner convertible, the Country Squire station wagon and the Victoria. Any of the three transmissions may be used in these models.

Both Ford engines boast an industry "exclusive" in the use of precision-molded cast alloy crankshafts, camshafts and exhaust valves. The crankshafts give up to 30 per cent longer life and all these parts are highly resistant to wear and extreme heat.

Horsepower of the V-3 was increased by a combination of higher compression ratio—up from 8.5 to 1 to 7.2-to-1—redesigned camshaft, and carburetor and by other improvements.

Both engines have close-fitting expansion control aluminum pistons, full-pressure lubricating systems which keep all bearings oiled by pressure, free-turning valves to give better valve seating and eliminate sticking, and the Ford automatic power pilot carburetor-ignition system which provides power with fuel economy.

Design
The new Ford six was designed to obtain more useable engine power and fuel economy by reducing friction and heat losses. To meet the objective, Ford engineers adopted a new combustion chamber design and overhead valve arrangement. The compression ratio is 7-to-1.

A short piston stroke results in less piston travel and the new design results in a noticeable cut in friction losses between the piston and cylinder walls. This reduction in internal friction, together with new designs in carburetion, manifolds and precision fittings of wearing surfaces, resulted in a marked increase in useful power of the engine.

One Piece
The Ford Six has integral valve guides cast as part of the cylinder head, a full-flow oil filter, timing chain, and all-steel cylinder head gaskets.

The cylinder block and crankcase are cast in one piece, extending below the center of the crankshaft.

In addition, the engine employs the series flow type of cooling system and a pressure-type radiator cap.

Serviceability also was built into the engine. The oil filler opening is in top of the valve cover close to the front, and the oil filter is accessible on the distributor side of the engine.

California's 1952-53 Estimated Budget $36,535,059 Over This Year

With a threatened 12 per cent increase in the budget for fiscal 1952-53, California will be spending a billion dollars next year to run the business of the state. This was forecast in the budget submitted by the State Finance Department the other day in an 855-page document which is merely the first of three parts which will finally constitute the complete budget.

On the basis of the 12 per cent increase over the 1951-52 expenditures, it is estimated that the next fiscal year will up California's budget $36,535,059.

This increase may not be passed by the legislature without a lot of debate. The Assembly Ways and Means Committee has already given notice that it will demand cuts in Governor Earl Warren's budget figures.

State Auditor Warns
Final approval to the 1952-53 budget will be given when the Assembly meets March 3. In the meantime, Auditor A. Alan Post of the Legislature has issued a warning against the two prevalent notions about the State's potential surplus. He warned that a sudden, untoward economic recession could endanger State finances with a $100,000,000 loss a year in revenue.

Auditor Post also suggested to the legislators that they consider using the State's surplus to repay part of the $250,000,000 school bond issue and the impounding of surplus funds for those construction needs which have not yet been met.

Inflation Blamed
The cause of the increase in the operating budget was given as due to inflation, salary raises and price increase for everything the State buys.

The 5 per cent wage hike for State employees represented a $12,250,000 item in the recommended budget. $1,300,000 of the budget was earmarked for purchases in the event of further price cial investigating sub-committee report on individual candidate backgrounds. Nominating speeches committee members may desire to make in behalf of individually favored candidates also are scheduled.

Fact-finder committee timetable is to make the Congressional selection by mid-February, then swing into the problems of choosing favored candidates for State Senate and Assemblymen.

The public is invited to attend fact-finding committee meetings, although direct participation is limited to members. Sessions are held each Thursday night in the San Mateo city council at 8 p.m.

Post was critical of the practice of feeding employees at State institutions.

The Senate finance committee is scheduled to begin its studies of the new budget on Monday, February 18.

Emydian Institute Planning Whist, Valentine Party

The Young Ladies Institute, Emydian No. 154, will hold a gala Valentine party in Holy Angels parish hall, San Pedro road, Colma, on Tuesday, February 12, Mrs. Betty Hyndman, president, announced yesterday.

Special guests will be the members of Alberian Institute of San Francisco. A buffet supper and other refreshments will be served, this to be followed by entertainment.

On Friday, February 15, the Institute will sponsor a whist party in the parish hall, starting at 8:30 p.m. This affair is open to the general public.

Attend Dinner
Six members of Emydian Institute attended the annual Fourteenth District dinner, this year held at Half Moon Bay, Wednesday, January 30. The local members who attended the dinner were Tris Latrielle, Rosemary Flanagan, Imelda Laramie, June McCarthy, Dorothy Zanon, and Betty Hyndman.

Recruits Needed For Navy Nurses

Young women! Can you qualify for the Navy Nurses Corps Program?

The new Navy nurse program, now open to qualified young women, offers attractions and advantages available in no other nursing field today.

The Navy offers post graduate study in specialized fields to those who qualify for advanced training. You may study (with all expenses paid, plus your officer's salary and allowances) at outstanding universities.

Complete information on how to join the Navy Nurse Corps, may be obtained at the Office of Naval Officer Procurement, Federal Office Building, San Francisco 2, California.

First Lt. Dion M. Grahame, whose wife lives at 281 First avenue, Daly City, a member of the 1st Cavalry Division, is helping set up defensive positions on Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island.

His division was added to the security force in Japan recently following 17 months of front-line service in Korea.

On Hokkaido, only three and one-half miles from Russian territory, the cavalymen are learning techniques of Arctic survival and how to fight on skis and snowshoes.

Lieutenant Grahame is a platoon leader in Headquarters Company, 3rd Battalion of the 5th Regiment. He has been awarded the Purple Heart Medal for wounds received in action, Combat Infantryman Badge with star and the Korean Service Ribbon with two campaign stars. He served in World War II on the Philippines and New Georgia with the 25th Division.

Grahame is a graduate of Mission high school.

Staff Sergeant Elizabeth I. Stephens, of 105 East Vista, Daly City, a member of the WAF, has been assigned to duty with the Fourth Air Force, Hamilton field. She is in the field office as a clerk posting USAFI courses and Form 40's and maintaining Form 40 file for VRS and VART.

Sergeant Stephens saw service in Tokyo, Japan, with the 825th WAC battalion, between November, 1946 and May, 1948.

The Navy assures qualified high school graduates of a course in one of its many vocational school upon completion of their basic Recruit Training. According to Chief Walter Hallfarth, of the San Mateo Recruiting station, this program is on a QUOTA basis each month, and first come first served. In addition to Basic Submarine and Airman Schools there are over 30 other schools available.

Suppose you're interested in Aviation. If you're a high school graduate it's simple. All you do to get into Naval Aviation is to walk into your Navy recruiting station and tell the chief that you want to go to Aviation Fundamentals school. Since only the best men get chosen you will then be given various tests to find out if you're one of the best. If you pass these tests and are between 17 and under 31 years of age, you will be sent to the Navy's Aviation Fundamentals School as soon as you finish Recruit Training.

If you make good in this school the field opens up for you and you get an early start into the Air Age. You'll begin to specialize. For instance, there's the Aviation Machinist's Mate school in which you will first learn the overall principles and practices of all phases of aviation engines. But naval aviation isn't exclusively for high school graduates. It doesn't make any difference how much education you've had... if you can pass the tests you can make the grade.

For complete information on this program, visit the Navy Recruiting Station located in the Post Office Building, San Mateo, and have a talk with Chief Hallfarth. He will be glad to help you. Phone DI. 4-2781.

S.M.J.C. INSTRUCTOR ASSEMBLY CANDIDATE

A San Mateo Junior college political science instructor, Roy A. Archibald, today announced he will be a candidate on the Democratic ticket for the new north county assembly district.

This brings to three the prospective candidates for the office. Peter J. Markovich, Daly City insurance man, has expressed interest in the job on a non-partisan ticket. Another Daly City man, Joseph P. Gilmore, will seek the Democratic nomination.

Archibald is a resident of Burlingame, World War II veteran, and has taught at the college for the past five years.

Arizona copper production in 1950 was 403,301 tons, about 44 per cent of the total copper produced in the United States.

SNUG HARBOR

By
STRANGE WILLIAMS

It wasn't the way she said it that really impressed me so much. It was the smug look on her face, as if no one had ever done it before.

The late afternoon sun had disappeared behind a rain cloud. Suddenly the cheerful warmth seemed to have dissolved into nowhere.

Mentally I withdrew from the conversation and began to mull over the last half hour of conversation.

I knew that it was true what she said about marriage, or rather the man you marry; but so much of all she said was only part truth.

And, like so many blockheaded untruths, always there runs the small grain of legitimate facts.

Yup, smug look had done it alright. She had worked the old man over but plenty after they had married. Sure he had changed and how! She had seen to that.

But he was the only one that had done any changing. His love and his idealism for his own mother, and other members of his family, was impregnable when he married this woman. A large group of sincere and admirable people were his friends.

Somewhat he never had a chance to visit with his mother. Anniversaries and birthdays were expensive and silly. She didn't have money for extra food for family dinners. She was far too busy to drop everything and go over to their house when dad had an attack of rheumatism. No, Tom couldn't go. Some things were to be delivered and Tom had to stay home and sign for them, she had an appointment at the beauty shop. She forgot to mention it but she needed the car that evening. She was taking a friend to the hospital to see another sick friend of hers and well, it really was important.

No, they just couldn't get away for Mary's graduation dinner party. She invited a few friends in for cocktails Saturday night. Just a few you know, and everyone was bringing something and they would have a buffet style snack. It really cost nothing at all to entertain that way.

Smug face would get big hearted and tell Tom to take the car and run over and visit the family and she would really have a chance to clean the house up good while he was gone.

But on his return she managed to berate him rather gently but ever so firmly that she was all by herself on his day off, or she shouldn't have to do that heavy work by herself and—oh did he forget they were having dinner early, and why did he keep her waiting so long?

So his friends were treated likewise. It was always like that and most often the little things every day that counted up until the amount was staggering.

One day we might find Tom in open revolt. Probably he will go overboard the other way about everything.

He might find a girl friend that is very much in sympathy with this frustrated husband. Or he may take to drinking alone and quietly by himself every evening in his work shop. Then, too, some night he might decide that no one will miss him too much, except the pay check perhaps and Tom doesn't live there any more.

Then all the gallant friends and her relations gather around smug face and sympathize with her and what a big heel he was. Who would ever think it after all these years they ask.

Smug face was so sure her marriage was the essence of perfection. It was, for her.

A marriage based on circumstances where only one person contributes toward the harmony of that marriage is not a healthy or sound foundation for an everlasting life together.

Nothing good ever came at the expense of another's misery.

Sgt. Norman Reunites With Wife Following Duty At Korean Front

The lot of an army married enlisted man during these troubled times is sometimes fraught with untimely separations from wife and home.

That has been the experience of Sergeant First Class Harry Norman and his wife, Lisa, 763 Thornhill drive, Colma. The Normans have had exactly four months together out of two years of marriage.

They were married while Sergeant Norman was stationed in Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Bavaria, Germany, with the army of occupation. There it was that he met Fraulein Lisa, who worked in the same office with him as a stenographer-typist.

Daly City Boy Scouts Observe 42nd Anniversary Of Scouting

Under the banner of "Forward On Liberty's Team," Daly City's Scouts and volunteer leaders will join with nearly three million other Scouts and leaders throughout the nation in celebrating the 42nd anniversary of Scouting during Scout Week, February 6-12.

With the Liberty Bell as a symbol, the Boy Scouts of America will launch on a nationwide basis, a new three year program designed to focus greater attention on the citizenship training qualities of Scouting.

Local observance of Scouting's 1952 anniversary week will be under the direction of chairman Raymond C. Lillie, general manager of I. Magnin & Co. It will be highlighted by a huge ceremony to be held aboard the carrier USS INTREPID at Hunter's Point on February 9, when this carrier will be recommissioned.

Scouts will form the words "On Liberty's Team" on the flight deck of this 27,000 ton carrier while Scouts with massed flags will flank the official party which will include Navy officials, Mr. Lillie, P. Tremaine Loud, president of the local Scout Council and Oscar C. Alverson, Scout Executive.

A replica of the Liberty Bell will be presented to Capt. B. B. C. Lovett, Commanding officer of the INTREPID, who will give ensigns to four Scout Explorer crew leaders for use on Sea Explorer ships which will then be launched.

Scouts will have free access to many ships and facilities with the Navy Yard during the day long celebration.

During the week there will be Scout parades, "open house" celebrations and many other activities being arranged by service clubs, fraternal organizations and other groups that sponsor Scout units in the city.

News of Your Local Businesses and Business Men

Seems there's no ceiling on "beefs" about some of the "so called" old fashioned business frontages on Top-of-the-Hill—BUT, how many people have bothered to check on the ownership of said buildings? Most of those businessmen RENT and there is no help for outside or inside redecorating—not from the landlords, anyway—

POST SCRIPT: Take a good look inside most of your Topper stores and you'll find plenty has been done and all out of the rentee's pockets, FOR YOUR BETTER SHOPPING CONVENIENCE, too! Give your shopping block a break...

It's a June in February vacation for Mr. and Mrs. Sam Godes, owners of Kiddieville over in Broadmoor. Or, as Gladys Holt, their bright-eyed saleslady says, "A much needed REST." And what better place than Palm Springs could you find?

Seen Around Westlake:

Mrs. Evelyn Goldkuhl hurrying home to not-so-well daughter Nancy with son Jimmy on one hand—and a bag of those delicious Compton's snails in the other.

Mrs. Frank Blum—waiting for her City Attorney husband in front of the Towne and Beach Tog Shoppe with admiring eyes for those lovelies in the window... Can't say I blame her for wanting to clear out the stock, either. It is gorgeous!

Paul Green, Mayor of our town, looking abstracted and going someplace in a hurry.

Jerome Whittaker, suave owner of the very swish Westlake Beauty Salon, giving me a surprise with his Carousell Room—for the children! With its huge window, gay decorations and children's books and magazines (no True Confessions for the kiddies), it makes a truly ideal place for the youngest miss to catch herself some glamour...

For men who like that tweedy look combined with fine tailoring in their sport coats or jackets—how about trying "Berning's" men's RUBELE TROUBLE? Try the Central Hardware store at 2123 Junipero Serra Blvd. They have a wonderful rubbish burner which is black, ventilated and with a removable lid for only $6.40—this is a real stop and shopper for your back yard. And for barbecuers, they DO carry charcoal—AND, for fireplace lovers, they have a bundle of eucalyptus logs—plus some kindling—for a package price of only 98c... THEY DO DELIVER!

They say John H. McCarty, the clover real estate man at 2125 Junipero Serra Blvd., looks strictly out of the Jungle... But after all, even a Gillette blue, super blade backs away from a good case of CHICKENPOX. Too bad!

When Mrs. Garvey Pollard refreshment chairmanned the recent PTA Blood Drive for this area she called King's Market manager Nate Tempkin to ask for a price reduction on needed groceries:

"So now they want my BLOOD, too!"

POST SCRIPT: She received NO BILL, and blood, too—from Mrs. Tempkin!

Top of the Hill Taylor-Tot-ers will be mighty happy to see the remodeling job going on in the Brue-Griffin "little dime store." Aisles are being widened to make them thoroughfares instead of "bug-a-bears" for shoppers.

SEEN strolling past those Dept of Public Health bulletins on "Dental Health Week" down in Colma—an elderly gentleman carefully polishing his lower plate with a very large and questionable bandanna. What next!

MIXED EMOTIONS definition, according to a conversation overheard on the 14 bus line, is seeing your mother-in-law drive over a cliff—in your new Cadillac. But, whoever heard of a son-in-law letting his mother-in-law do more than stroke the steering wheel of his new Cadillac? Must have been another one of those gags...

Daly City Barbershop customer, Frank Lombardi, giving a deadpan offer of an Iguois haircut to young Davie Garrison, son of "Western Weatherstrip"-er Hoke Garrison. "You need a shave, son," says Frank, "from here to here!" and did that five-year-old's cowlicks quiver before he caught on!

When to the Big City and saw Quo Vadis, the epic, but believe me folks—you can get the same brand of corn at the Daly City or Serra theatres... and for less admission charges, too! Oh! didn't I tell you I meant pop corn?

It's the Greatest Car Ever Built in the low-price field!
